R. I. SENATE SEEKS SILVER RELEASE

Passes Resolution on Continuance of Pay for School Teachers, Janitors

(Special to the News)

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 21—The senate this afternoon unanimously passed a resolution requesting Congress to enact the bill introduced by Senator Theodore Francis Green releasing for war and essential civilian use, silver amassed by the federal government through its silver purchasing program.

Also passed by the upper branch of the legislature was a resolution continuing the pay of school teachers, janitors and other employees so they would not be penalized by closing of school buildings as a result of the governor's emergency order.

Introduced in the senate by Senator Fred C. Broomhead, Barrington Republican, was a bill extending the governor's emergency powers until two months after the conclusion of the war. The bill is identical to one passed Wednesday in the House.

The house, meanwhile, returned to a more normal daily session. It met for exactly three minutes, just long enough to receive a resolution introduced by Representative Herman D. Ferrara, Providence, providing for distribution of volume 65 and 66 of the Rhode Island reports to each member and clerk of the legislature.

Bills urging safeguards in Rhode Island against the possibility of fires similar to the Coconut Grove conflagration, continued to pour into the General Assembly and today the senate had passed a resolution creating a special commission to study fire laws throughout the state. A similar measure was blocked from immediate passage in the house earlier in the week.

In the house, meanwhile, a resolution was introduced calling for inspections of buildings by fire authorities of buildings in every city and town at least once every six months.

The senate bill would create a 10-member commission to be named by the governor. It would include the state fire marshal, the building inspector of Providence, a member of the Rhode Island Fire Chiefs' Association and a

MINERS RETURN

BEFORE DEADLINE

Only 3,000 Still Idle; President Gratified at Response

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 21 (AP)—A three-week old wildcat strike in the Pennsylvania anthracite fields—the nation's costliest in man hours lost since Pearl Harbor—apparently ended today a few hours before a back-to-work deadline set by President Roosevelt.

Enthusiastic miners by the thousands trooped back to their jobs in all major strike-closed collieries in what one strike leader described as "a courtesy to the President" rather than an acceptance of defeat.

Of the 24,000 who once took part in the revolt against United Mine Workers' leadership, barely 3,000 were known still to be idle as the crowds of over-armed workers rode down colliery shafts to their pits, many for the first time since December 30.

Only three UMW locals still were out at noon. One—the Executive of the Payne Coal Company, with 1,000 members—voted at a stormy session this morning to continue the walkout unless the President's ultimatum is delivered to them by a personal representative. They contended the order as presented to them did not bear Mr. Roosevelt's signature. A special meeting was called for 2 P. M., Eastern War time, Monday to receive the President's reply.

Another local was committed to "wait out" Mr. Roosevelt's zero hour sometime this afternoon, when, he had said, the "necessary steps" would be taken, if necessary to "end this strike which is

CAPTAIN JOSEPH BIELLO

TO TAKE NEW POST

Commandant of Naval Hospital to Leave in February

Rotary Club Plans Testimonial; Navy Doctors Here To Arrange Dinner

Captain Joseph A. Biello, Medical Corps, U. S. N., who has been in command of the Naval Hospital here for the last two years, will leave early in February to become district medical officer of the Fourth Naval District, with headquarters in Philadelphia. Captain Griffith Thomas, Medical Corps, U. S. N., has been named as the new commanding officer of the hospital. He will arrive soon from the Marine Corps Barracks at San Diego, Cal.

Captain Biello, former fleet surgeon, will have supervision of all hospitals and other medical activities in the Fourth Naval District. It embraces additional responsibilities for which he was chosen by the navy's surgeon general, Rear Admiral Ross McIntyre. This was the third tour of duty in Newport for Captain Biello, who was the hospital's executive officer under Captain, now Rear Admiral Benjamin H. Dorsey from 1933 to 1935, and was graduated from the Naval War College in 1936. It is understood that, when his tour as surgeon of the United States Fleet ended two years ago, he had the choice of several commands ashore, and chose Newport, where he has a wide acquaintance. The Rotary Club, of which Captain Biello has been an active member, plans a testimonial for him Tuesday, February 2. The Naval Hospital doctors are planning a dinner in his honor.

Captain Biello, a specialist in surgery, entered the Medical Corps in 1907; served in various hospitals and on various vessels. He took part in the Nicaraguan and Mexican campaigns in 1910 and 1914, respectively. In the World War, he was senior medical officer of transport Agamemnon.

His main assignment following the World War included chief of surgery on hospital ship Mercy; chief of surgery, Naval Hospital, Norfolk; surgeon to the American legation and legation guard in Peking, China; instructor in military and general surgery at Peking Union Medical College; Rockefeller Foundation; chief of surgery, Naval Hospital, New York.

FALL RIVER TO CONVERT

FALL RIVER, Jan. 21 (AP)—Six grammar schools will be closed and their pupils transferred to other buildings for at least 10 days while the heating plants are converted to coal, Hector Bellie, superintendent of schools, said today.

The conversion will be made sometime next week as soon as the transfer of pupils has been completed.

95 MEN TO LEAVE

IN FEBRUARY 4 DRAFT

Some May Enter Navy Under New Plan

Two Pairs of Brothers on List; Kin of Man Lost on U. S. S. Juneau Gets Call

Board 1, this city, today designated 95 men to leave February 4 for final physical examinations at the Providence induction center before entrance into the service. While the majority will go into the army, the expectation is that some, by their own choice, may enter the navy under a new plan that permits selection.

Those desirous of navy service, in the regular navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard, will be accepted only as regards the needs of those services and provided they can pass the required physical examination, it was said. All who pass will be given the customary leave before beginning actual service.

Today's list includes Wilbur C. Moore of 4 Cozzens court, whose brother, Raymond W. Moore, 21, was among those reported by the Navy Department as missing on sunken cruiser Juneau recently. Also included are twins, Robert B. and William S. Rollinson, 20, of 34 Sherman street. Two other brothers are John N. and William L. Springett of 9 Morton avenue.

Today's list included a number who registered last June 30, but it had not reached the 18-and 19-year-olds who registered in December.

Under the second January quota, 15 white and eight colored men left Newport, and 15 white left from Board 2 today.

These men were named for the February 4 draft. James M. Bulha, 41 Annandale road. Melvin L. Carpenter, Jr., 38 Howard street. David B. Medeiros, 53 Garfield street.

George W. Gallipeau, Jr., 53 Sims street. Vincent P. Roggero, Girard avenue. Michael Burke, 37 Division street. Raskie P. Flack, 15 Harrison avenue. Levi Baird, Jr., 360 Thames street. John N. Springett, 9 Morton avenue.

NEWPORT PREPARES FOR MONDAY CLOSINGS

Schools Here Will Resume Monday Sessions

Banks, Public Buildings to Close Saturdays; Hotels, Restaurants to Stay Open

Newport moved today for a general Monday closing of retail business establishments, with few exceptions, in order to comply with Governor J. Howard McGrath's executive order, issued Wednesday night, to save on fuel. In some instances, the closing is permitted Saturday, to bring about the five day week.

Public and parochial schools in Newport County will be opened Mondays, thus continuing the normal five day week. This change was made by the governor as the result of protests by Dr. Michael F. Walsh, acting superintendent here, and other superintendents throughout the state, where only 40 of the 419 school buildings burn oil.

Banks and public buildings, including the city hall, will close Saturdays, instead of Mondays, under provisions of the order which makes Saturdays a bank holiday. These usually close at noon Saturday, so the all-day closing then is considered less of a hardship. The debate about closing on Washington's Birthday is ended this year. It falls on Monday, is a bank holiday, and now becomes a retail trade holiday.

The Aquidneck National Bank, Newport Trust Company and Newport National Bank, under the order, will be opened from 9:30 A. M. to 2 P. M., Mondays through Fridays. The Co-operative Association will open from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M., with the exception of the third Friday when it remains open until 9 P. M.

The People's Credit Union has opening hours from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M., Mondays through Thursdays, and from 9 A. M. to 5:30 P. M. Fridays. The Morris Plan

SOME LEADERS EXTEND GAINS

International Nickel, Montgomery Ward Among Those Touching New Highs

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—Buyers parried lightly of their favorite stock market fare today but there was enough nibbling to extend Wednesday's belated recovery by fractions for assorted leaders. Among a smattering of shares touching new 1942-43 tops were those of International Nickel and Montgomery Ward. Occasional gainers included United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Kennecott, Western Union, J. I. Case, Sperry, du Pont, J. C. Penney, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Oliver Farm and Eastman Kodak. American Telephone was a soft spot. Backward also were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, General Electric, United States Rubber and Caterpillar Tractor.

RUSSIANS TRY TO CUT OFF FOE

Shock Troops Pour Across Mancya River; Others Push Westward

MOSCOW, Jan. 21 (AP)—Russian shock troops were reported pouring westward across the Mancya river today 15 miles from the rail junction of Salsk in the drive to isolate the Axis army of the Caucasus and clamp an arc of steel about Rostov. Feverish German efforts to fix a stable line along the left bank of the Mancya, a placid lake-fed stream that flows into the Don 30 miles east of Rostov, are failing, field dispatches said.

Red Star announced that Soviet detachments were capturing point after point, while the Germans were blowing up bridges and trying to lay more mines in a rapid retreat. They already have been driven from a number of positions on the Salsk side of the Mancya, it said.

There, and elsewhere on the long front, the Russians were declared moving ever westward in the tenth week of their winter offensive, with Rostov, the steel city of Kharkov, the industrially important Donets basin center of Voroshilovgrad and the Maitkop oil fields of the Caucasus among their objectives.

The German command said there was "continuous hard fighting south of Lake Ladoga," where the Russians are battling to widen their supply corridor to Leningrad. Without a reference to specific gains or losses, the command said that Axis shock troops "were successfully employed" in local combat on the central front and south of Lake Ilmen.

The German command declared the Russians were repulsed during continued violent assaults along the southern sectors and had lost 52 armored cars during one 48-hour period this week. Trapped troops at Stalingrad were reported to have stood firmly against mass assaults.

"Between January 11 and 20, 531 Soviet tanks were destroyed, captured or rendered unserviceable on the eastern front by detachments of the army," the command said.

With a northern army reported 70 miles east of Kharkov, at Urazova, a southern force swept 17 miles westward to capture Byelokurdina, 115 miles southeast of Kharkov, a special Russian command said Wednesday night.

These two troop bodies threatened to form the pincers to clamp onto Kharkov. The troops who had reached Byelokurdina had accomplished actually the deepest penetration of the Ukraine republic.

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The British 8th army, with a Fighting French desert column on its left flank, pushed Marshal Rommel's hard-pressed rear guard down the coastward slope from Nefusa ridge to probably within 35 miles of Tripoli today in a continuing advance past the hill village of Tarhuna and the coastal road town of Homs.

The occupation of the towns, one 40 miles southeast and the other 56 miles east of Tripoli, Wednesday was announced in today's Cairo communique, which said General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces pushed on "in close contact with the enemy retreating to the west."

Under steadily mounting aerial assault, the Axis withdrawal showed signs of disorganization, but informed sources said there was no authoritative indication that bomb-battered Tripoli was being evacuated.

The occupation of the port by the British was regarded, however, as simply a matter of time, perhaps a few days. The 8th Army's main objective now is the stiffer task of preventing the bulk of Marshal Rommel's remaining army from joining the forces of Colonel General Jürgen von Arnim in Tunisia.

Rommel's rear guards have retreated into a semicircular fringe of hills east and southeast of Tripoli. Informed London sources said they saw no route by which General Montgomery could swing swiftly to the left to intercept the forward columns streaming westward out of Tripoli toward the Tunisian frontier, 100 miles away.

Looking beyond the windup of the Libyan offensive, British sources declared the Tunisian campaign should be concluded by April if the Allies hoped to take full advantage of the North African springboard this summer for a real European second front.

On the Tunisian land front, where it was suggested that new Axis offensive thrusts might be intended to hold open a corridor for Rommel's withdrawal, Axis troops made a new advance against French positions southwest of Pont du Fahs.

This was in the section where a communique yesterday disclosed a German penetration of seven miles. Today's war bulletin described the new gain as "a small advance," and said Allied bombers and fighters, including the French Lafayette Escadrille, were striking in support of the French troops.

Minor engagements continued in the Bou Arda region, north of the French positions. There a German thrust was reported yesterday to have been repulsed after a hard mauling.

Reports from the front said that the German penetration in the rugged, ravine-cut country southwest of Pont du Fahs created a fluid front from which one of the decisive battles of the Tunisian campaign might take form.

Allied plans for a counter-move were kept secret, of course, but it seemed certain that one was in the making.

The Allies kept their ascendancy

American Airmen Down Eight Planes Near Shortland Island

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Under-Secretary of War Robert Patterson disclosed today that army ground troops have replaced the marines in the Solomons and are commanded by Major General Alexander A. Vandegrift, who has moved his headquarters from New Caledonia to Guadalcanal.

"The marines who fought so long and so well in the Solomons are now getting a chance to rest," Patterson said at a press conference.

Patch, who commanded the army troops that landed in New Caledonia last year, relieved Major General Alexander A. Vandegrift of the marines not quite a month ago, Patterson said.

The army troops and Patch are under the general command of Major General Hildard F. Harmon, who commands all army troops in the South Pacific, but the operations in that outlying area are still under the command of Admiral William F. Halsey, Patterson said.

The American position in the Solomons has improved further during the last week, Patterson said, but the Japanese are expected to make new efforts to reinforce their troops on Guadalcanal.

The navy announced today the bombing of a Japanese destroyer off Bougainville Island, in the Solomons, and the shooting down of eight enemy planes in the Shortland Island area.

The text of the navy's communique, No. 257

"South Pacific: (All dates are east longitude)

"January 19 An air striking group of United States planes bombed Japanese positions at Munda, on New Georgia Island. Results were not reported.

January 20: "During the early morning Flying Fortress heavy bombers (Boeing B-17) scored a bomb hit on a Japanese destroyer off Cape Friendship, at the easternmost tip of Bougainville Island.

"Flying Fortresses, with fighter escort, attacked two enemy cargo ships and two destroyers in the Shortland Island area. A number of enemy Zeros and float-type biplanes intercepted the attack and eight of these planes were shot down. No hits on the enemy ships were observed. One United States fighter was lost and several fortresses were damaged."

ADMIRAL HUNT RITES AT TRINITY CHURCH

Naval City Circles Represented at Full Military Funeral Service

With full military honors, and with a large attendance from naval and city circles, funeral services for the late Rear Admiral Livingston Hunt, Pay Corps, U. S. N., were held in Trinity Church this morning. Burial followed in the Island cemetery. Admiral Hunt died late Monday at the Naval Hospital after two days' illness.

The Rev. Dr. Lauriston L. Scarfe, rector of Trinity, conducted the funeral service. He was assisted by Chaplain George P. LaBarre of the Naval Training Station.

Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, U. S. N., retired, headed the list of honorary bearers, who included Captains Robert S. Chew and Charles C. Copp, and Commanders J. B. Carter, O. B. Byrd and W. E. McCain of the Supply Corps. Sailors from the Naval Training Station were active bearers. The Training Station band played and headed a naval escort.

BLACKOUT-VIOLATORS CONTACT CHIEF WARDEN

Give Assurance of Future Compliance With Regulations; Zone, Sector Officials to Meet

John Barry Ryan, chief air raid warden, said this morning that all violators of the recent blackout had been contacted and had assured him that more care would be given to the regulations in the future, particularly in regard to lights when the premises are not occupied.

There will be a meeting of all zone and sector air raid wardens tonight at Civilian Defense headquarters, it was announced.

Distribution of stirrup pumps is nearly complete among the various services, Mr. Ryan said. It was pointed out that business houses whose employees have completed the citizen's defense course at the high school may get pumps.

POST FOR MRS. COOLIDGE

Former First Lady to Be Offered Bay State Corps Command

BOSTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—Mrs. Grace Coolidge, wife of the late former President Calvin Coolidge, will be offered the post of commander of the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps, state defense officials indicated today.

The defense corps, a uniformed outfit of some 6,000 members, faces a complete reorganization following the removal Tuesday of Colonel Natalie Hays Hammond, of Gloucester, as commander, and the subsequent resignation of her and about 500 other members of the corps.

Mrs. Coolidge, who has lived in retirement since leaving the White House, was unavailable for comment as to whether she would be receptive to the offer. The former first lady recently gave up her Northampton home to the WAVES and has been living with a friend.

REVENUE OFFICE HOURS

The office of internal revenue in the postoffice building will be open Friday and Saturday of this week from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. It was announced by Assistant P. Taylor, deputy collector of internal revenue. He said the office will be open Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week also from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. The office hours commencing February 1, will be announced at a later date, Mr. Taylor said.

PRICE PANEL ANNOUNCES NEW FOOD CEILINGS

Sets Deadline for Merchants to File Price Lists

Orders Some Dealers to Appear Because of Failure to File Suitable Data

The price panel, at its weekly meeting Wednesday night at the Ration Board headquarters set January 27, as the deadline for merchants to file price lists before action will be taken, it was stated today by James A. Gately, chairman.

It was also announced that effective January 14, definite ceilings were placed on butter, cheese, fresh citrus fruit, bananas, poultry, onions and white potatoes. These new ceilings prescribe fixed margins over retailers net costs, it was said.

Several local merchants have been ordered to appear before the board at its meeting Wednesday night for failure to file suitable consumer price lists, it was learned. The OPA regulations require the lists to be filled on standard sized paper, typed or written in ink, with signature affixed, it was pointed out.

The Ration Board said this morning that War Ration Book No. 1, can be obtained by persons who were out of the country between December 16, 1942 and January 15, 1943, if they register within a month after their return to the country; by persons who are no longer subsisted in organized messes by the army or navy; by persons confined in hospitals and institutions between December 16 and January 15, 1942, who register within a month after their release; for babies born after

MILEAGE OFFICIALS MEET IN PROVIDENCE

Administrators Hear of Plan for Pooling State, Municipal Vehicles

State, city and town mileage administrators, appointed at the request of OPA authorities in Washington to conserve gasoline and tires by pooling the use of state and municipal vehicles, were to meet this afternoon at the state automobile pool headquarters in Providence.

Representing Newport was Commander Benjamin B. McCormick. Tiverton was represented by Herbert S. Hamby.

G. Merlyn O'Keefe, state motor vehicle equipment coordinator, will instruct the city and town administrators in their required duties. The purpose of the program is to pool motor vehicles and to cut down their use to the absolute minimum while still providing essential services. Other speakers will be Daniel J. Ryan, public works commissioner, chairman of the governor's committee for distribution of state-owned equipment, and an OPA official.

MARCH OF DIMES BODY PLANS SPORTS NIGHTS

Will Hold Two Events at Rogers High School

Newport Cage Team to Meet Service Five For Title; Boxing, Wrestling to be Arranged

The March of Dimes Committee made definite plans at its meeting in the city hall Wednesday night, to hold two sports nights at Rogers High School as a means of raising money for the infantile paralysis fund. The events will be held a week apart. The first will be a basketball game between a picked team from Newport and a service team to decide the city championship. This game will be played January 30. It will be followed by a boxing and wrestling show a week later. Other entertainments, such as singing and dancing, will be included each night.

William A. Martin, chairman of athletics said he had written to Captain Cary W. Magruder for a game with the Naval Training Station and Captain Magruder offered not only the team but also the band. A letter of thanks was ordered sent to Captain Magruder for his cooperation.

The discussion on sports nights, which took up practically the whole of the meeting, was carried on after the meeting before a final decision was made. Mrs. Theodore P. Grosvenor, chairman of the committee, presided, assisted by Judge Mortimer A. Sullivan, vice chairman.

A tag day was unanimously opposed. The committee agreed that tag days were on the way out and nothing should be done to hold them. Cold weather, tag day workers and the fact that many of those who might be tagged had already contributed, were the deciding factors against having one.

Police Captain Samuel Dugan said his committee had distributed 500 March of Dimes collection boxes. The collections at the Naval Torpedo Station will be in charge of William A. Martin, chairman of athletics.

Mrs. H. Hollis Hooks, chairman of colored residents, said she had contacted various groups that will aid the drive. The Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church, basketball team will also try to raise funds, she said. She noted that a part of the money collected throughout the country will be given to Tuskegee Institute for the care of crippled colored children who are sent from all over the country to a hospital there.

Mrs. Margaret Sullivan was appointed to arrange for collections at the banks. She will report at the next meetings, which will be held at the city hall January 27. Mrs. John T. Blythe, in charge of collections at housing projects, reported good progress.

The use of the Anchorage alleys was accepted for next Saturday from 2 to 6 p. m. Other bowling alleys will also be asked to cooperate.

The committee on arrangements for the sports nights is William A. Martin, chairman, Dr. Michael P. Walsh, secretary, Daniel Kehew, treasurer, Judge Mortimer A. Sullivan, Attorney General, John H. Nolan, Lieutenant Commander John Davis, Captain Samuel Dugan, John J. Murphy, Harry R. Horgan, Ralph Tully and Gerald Wagner.

LONG PHONE RATES OUT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission has announced that the American Telephone and Telegraph Company will reduce its long-line revenue by an estimated $30,700,000 a year, of which $34,700,000 will be an immediate saving to the public.

No reduction will be made in the charge for the initial three minutes of long-distance calls, but the overtime charge will be cut. The charge for each additional minute is now one-third of the charge for the first three minutes, but under the new rates the charge will be one-fourth.

The F. C. C. estimated that this would result in an annual saving of $22,900,000.

MASONIC GRAND MASTER TO VISIT ST. PAUL'S

David R. Arnott Will Attend Dinner Meeting Here Next Monday Evening

David R. Arnott, most worshipful grand master of Masons for Rhode Island, has accepted an invitation of St. Paul's Lodge of this city to attend its annual dinner meeting next Monday evening, according to an announcement made by J. Crocker Titus, worshipful master of St. Paul's.

Mr. Arnott has been interested in the work carried on by St. Paul's Lodge in the interest of men in the armed forces in the country, not only in the local field but also through its contribution to the National Masonic Welfare Society.

Jethro H. Peckham, deputy grand master for the fifth Masonic District, will be at the meeting to supervise the election and installation of the officers for the ensuing year. Before the annual meeting, a dinner will be held at the Hotel Viking with Mr. Titus presiding. Arrangements for the event have been made by a committee under the direction of John B. Edward.

AXIS SIGNS PACT

Italy, Germany, Japan in Economic Co-operation Agreement

[By The Associated Press]

A Berlin radio broadcast recorded by the Associated Press Wednesday said that Germany, Japan and Italy had signed an economic co-operation pact Tuesday to utilize, "each in his own economic sphere," their resources for "totalitarian warfare against common enemies" and also as the basis for permanent collaboration "after a victorious termination of the war."

The agreement, to run concurrently with the 10-year military assistance pact of September 27, 1940, was signed at Adolf Hitler's headquarters by Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and the Japanese ambassador, Hiroshi Oshima, the broadcast said.

U. S. BOMBERS DOWN JAP ZEROS

10 Officers, Men Credited With Five or More in South- west Pacific Battles

[By Dean Schedler]

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Jan. 21 (AP)—Ten American officers and enlisted men, members of the crews of bombing planes that destroyed five or more enemy aircraft in combats in the Southwest Pacific area, become "bomber aces" today in the official box score compiled by Lieutenant General George C. Kenney, in command of Allied air forces in the area.

General Kenney's box score shows Japanese planes shot down by American bombers in combat while on bombing or reconnaissance missions.

Although designed primarily for bombing, the American bombers have shown in the Pacific that they have the fire power to administer severe punishment to enemy fighters. Frequently they fought off swarms of Japanese Zeros.

No American bombers or fighters have been shot down by Japanese bombers.

Since it is virtually impossible to give credit for knocking down a Zero to any one member of a bomber crew, General Kenney's official list of enemy planes destroyed credits each member of the crew participating in the kill. Japanese planes bombed or gunned on the ground are not counted.

Eight officers and men are credited with having participated in air fights between American bombers and Japanese fighters in which at least seven enemy planes have been shot down.

Listed are Captain John L. Dufrane, Virginia Beach, Va., First Lieutenant Richard V. Negley, Jr., San Antonio, Tex.; Second Lieutenant William W. Burney, Artesia Wells, Tex.; Second Lieutenant Samuel S. Patillo, Denton, Tex.; Staff Sergeant Jack W. Coleman, Salt Lake City; Sergeant Lewis H. Keightley, Sioux City, Iowa; Corporal Russell F. Boudria, Hartford, Conn.; and Private Harry R. Parry, Salt Lake City.

All were serving on Flying Fortresses.

Staff Sergeant Kenneth A. Grady, St. Louis, Mo., has been a member of a bomber crew on six missions during which enemy planes were shot down.

First Lieutenant Richard P. Hane, Dallas, Tex., participated in five air battles between his bomber and Japanese planes in which enemy planes were destroyed.

Officers and men credited with having participated in bomber versus Zero air battles in which at least four enemy planes were destroyed included Second Lieutenant C. H. Budz, Housatonic, Mass.; Staff Sergeant George T. Tague, Greenfield, Mass.; Technical Sergeant William T. Magee, Brockhaven, Mass.; Corporal Earl W. Curtis, Manchester, N. H.

COL. ARTHUR P. MOORE PRISONER OF JAPS

Officer Was Reported Missing After Fall of Batan; Wife Receives Word

Colonel Arthur P. Moore, U. S. A., who was reported missing by the War Department last June 10, following the capture of Batan in the Philippines by the Japanese, is now known to be a prisoner of war, according to word received by his wife here.

Mrs. Moore is the former Miss Marjorie Barter, daughter of Wilfred Barter of Coggeshall avenue and the late Mrs. Barter. She lives at 37 Catherine street and is employed at Coddington Point.

CITY NEEDS $40,000 FOR REST OF YEAR

Mayor, Chairman of Assessors Ask Department Heads for Estimates of Balances

Declaring that the city must raise approximately $40,000 to carry on its business for the remainder of the fiscal year, Mayor Herbert E. Macauley and John B. Sullivan, chairman of the Board of Tax Assessors, at a meeting this afternoon, asked all department heads to submit by Monday a statement of their unexpended balances and what they would be able to turn over to the city in order to meet the deficit the officials said existed.

The department heads were also asked to turn in by February 15 their estimated budgets for the next fiscal year, beginning April 1.

Chairman Sullivan said that in the last 15 years Newport had had real estate losses of about 10 million dollars and gains of about nine million. He said the city was financially sound but could not continue to be so with expenditures of $1,500,000 or $1,600,000. He said there is no need to appropriate that much in the future and felt that no more should be appropriated than $1,300,000.

The country has more complications in taxes than Newport, and, if all departments conducted their affairs economically, as the tax department has, not only since it has been in it but before, the city would not be in the "dilemma it is."

Mayor Macauley asked that salaries of individual employees be itemized and there be an explanation accompanying each appropriation. He said a purchasing agent would probably be established and said the city was losing tax revenue.

"I see no reason," the mayor said, "why the city is paying $58,463 a year for street lights that are really not turned on. When a survey is made and some lights may be eliminated and a bottom line reached as to what the city should pay. The same goes for gas."

Bank will be open from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M., Mondays through Thursdays, and from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. Fridays.

Hotels and restaurants are permitted to open seven days a week, but they are forbidden to sell or serve liquors Mondays, as a protection to the liquor establishments required to close that day.

Drug stores and news stores are permitted to be open seven days, but must operate on six sevenths of their normal weekly hours, with the Sunday sales law effective on Mondays also.

The local theatres are included in the closing order to the extent of six sevenths of their running time. All managers are meeting in Providence this afternoon to discuss the provisions. The probability in Newport it was said, was for each theatre to close three matinees a week, and to stagger the closing so that one theatre will be open daily.

The local libraries, given their choice on closing, have taken different dates. The Redwood Library will close Mondays for the remainder of the emergency. The People's Library will close Saturdays, starting January 30, because it closed last Monday.

Local wholesale establishments have their choice of closing Saturdays or Mondays, but no decision had been reached by them until early this afternoon. They are permitted to open to receive and deliver "essential and perishable merchandise."

Both the Newport Electric Corporation and the Newport Gas Light Company are permitted to open six days a week, as usual, excepting that retail sales will not be permitted Mondays.

The Local Rationing Board will continue to be closed on Mondays, it was said.

The court house will close Saturdays, starting January 30, because it was closed last Monday.

TRAIN KILLS BOY

2 Others Critically Hurt in Blackstone Accident

BLACKSTONE, Mass., Jan. 21 (AP)—One youth was killed and two others were critically hurt when a town truck, from which they were standing slippery highways, apparently slipped into the locomotive of a Hartford, Conn., bound passenger train at the Farm Street crossing.

Herbert Shugrue, 18, was pronounced dead on arrival at Woodstock Hospital, while the names of John Robinson and Ralph Morin, both 15, were placed on the danger list.

AIR BLOWS ON AXIS MOUNT

In the air on both sides of the dwindling Axis position.

Big American bombers battered again by daylight yesterday at the harbor of Tripoli, last stronghold of Mussolini's one-time African empire.

Other Allied planes bombed Axis troops dug in along the coastal road between Homs and the capital.

The Axis air base at Castel Benito was bombed anew, and enemy troops and transport concentrations near Tripoli were under virtually incessant attack.

Torpedo-carrying Allied planes sank one ship and damaged two others off the Tunisian coast, and sent another to the bottom in the Aegean.

From the west, Flying Fortresses and British Blenheims kept up their battering of military camps and supply routes behind the enemy's Tunisian line. American Billy Mitchell bombers, escorted by lightnings, attacked an enemy tanker between Tunisia and Sicily and left it hard-hit.

The Italian communiqué, reporting 1,500 prisoners captured on the Tunisian front in three days, said positions that had been gained there were being consolidated.

The German communiqué, however, said the positions were held against strong enemy counterattacks, but reported them "improved considerably in some places."

The news that the Fighting French actually had made contact with the crumpling British, after sweeping northward across hundreds of miles of Libyan desert, was disclosed Wednesday night in a communiqué from Brigadier General Jacques Le Clerc's headquarters.

Le Clerc said his troops now were "brilliantly taking part with their British allies in the advance on Tripoli," moving steadily forward on the 8th Army's flank, thus compressing Rommel's fleeing Africa Corps into a narrow strip along the Mediterranean coast.

The fighting French manoeuvre, effectively sealing the arc that the Allies had thrown around the Axis forces in North Africa, was regarded here as a death blow to any hope Rommel may have entertained of making another stand against the 8th Army somewhere east of the Tunisian border.

The Berlin radio, apparently preparing Axis listeners for the fall of Tripoli, reported last night that the city was ablaze from continuous aerial bombardment. Allied advances, meanwhile, said that Axis troops and equipment already were streaming westward from Tripoli toward the Tunisian frontier, some 100 miles away.

MINERS RETURN BEFORE DEADLINE

doing serious damage to the war effort."

Strikers and others took the President's warning to mean that troops would be sent to take over any collieries still strike-bound at the end of the 48-hour grace he allowed when his order was telegraphed shortly after noon Tuesday.

"There is nothing to gain by staying out," said Hugh Cavanaugh, president of the South Wilkes-Barre Colliery Local of Glen Alden Coal Company, the world's largest anthracite producer.

"We do not want to embarrass the President," he added. "But we will continue to fight against the 50-cent-a-month union dues increase and also for an increase in wages."

The dues issue started the wave of walkouts December 30. Demands for a $2-a-day cost-of-living bonus followed.

It was evident before starting whistles sounded at 7 A. M. (Eastern War Time) today that the back of the strike had been broken.

Strikers returned to the South Wilkes-Barre Windward, Huber and Lance collieries of the Glen Alden Company and the Prospect Henry colliery of the Lehigh Coal Company.

David Cummings, president of the United Mine Workers' Lance Colliery Local, said two miners not members of the local appeared at the mouth of the colliery before the starting whistle blew but left at his request.

There was no disorder.

The Westmoreland colliery of Lehigh Valley Company voted Wednesday night to remain idle and the mine did not open this morning.

lice since the Russians were forced to retreat in this region by the Germans' 1942 summer offensive.

Byelokurakina is about 50 miles inside the Ukrainian border. South of that area, the special communiqué said, Red army troops also moved into Byelovodsk, a district center 45 miles above Voroshilovgrad.

(A Soviet communiqué broadcast from Moscow about midnight and recorded by the Soviet Monitor in London, said that the Russian forces also occupied the four big populated places of Danilovka, Gorodische, Bolshaya-Chernigovka and Mityukinskaya, and the railway station of Chotlovka.

The latter two places are little more than 30 miles east of Voroshilovgrad and, apparently were taken by forces that moved down the railroad from Millerovo to the northwest.

(The pincers action threatened against Voroshilovgrad now offered a picture to London military observers of a Russian army sweeping through the southeastern Ukraine toward the Sea of Azov, to encircle Rostov completely.)

EMPLOYERS ASK PAY BOOSTS

WLB Head Reports On Requests From Them

BOSTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Seventy-five per cent of the requests for pay increases reaching the National War Labor Board since October 3 "have come from employers themselves," William H. Davis, WLB chairman, told a luncheon meeting of the Boston Chamber of Commerce today.

"The world is a little topsy-turvy these days," commented Chairman Davis. "Here's the Roosevelt administration bending every effort to hold wages down and employers standing in line asking the government to let them be raised. I shouldn't be terribly surprised some morning to read in the newspaper that the Communist Party had gone on record against taxes on corporate incomes."

Davis declared that "it is a great tribute to the patience of American industry and labor" that they have accepted the restrictive phases of the wage-stabilization program "in such a spirit of cooperation."

16 OFFICERS, MEN CITED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Decorations of 12 officers and four enlisted men for heroic conduct in action was announced by the Navy Department today.

The Navy Cross was awarded Ensign Harold White, 21, son of Lawrence B. White, 301 North Harrell street, Florence, S. C., for bravery in bombing and gunning Japanese naval forces in the battle of Midway.

Among recipients of the Silver Star Medal included:

Lieutenant Commander John F. Delaney, 38, engineer officer, U. S. S. Yorktown, whose wife, Mrs. Barbara Ross Delaney, lives at 120 South Park street, Bradford, Mass.

ON CIVILIAN ECONOMY

WLB Head Sees Little More To Trim

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, said today:

"There is a feeling among WPB officials that we have gone so far in stripping down the civilian economy. Others feel we haven't gone far enough."

"I would say that there is not much more trimming of consumer goods that would yield substantial quantities of war material."

FLYNN INQUIRY RESUMES FRIDAY

OPA Head Asks Support of Rising Prices; New Farm Program Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The capital had a day's lull in the Senate investigation of the fitness of Edward J. Flynn to be minister to Australia. The inquiry resumes Friday with six additional New York witnesses invited to appear, among them Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia.

As Prentiss M. Brown, the nation's new price administrator, took over OPA with an appeal for consumer support of a program envisioning a gradually rising prices, a Senate defense investigating committee accused the Office of Civilian Supply of gambling "dangerously and unwisely with our nation's food supply."

The committee report, foreseeing "grave danger" that the 1943-44 food production goals will not be reached, called for "a new and more adequate program for farm machinery production."

The Flynn investigation, conducted by the Senate foreign relations committee, on Republican charges the President's nominee is unqualified for the diplomatic post, drew a capacity crowd at yesterday's opening session.

Chairman Connally, Democrat, Texas, said witnesses would continue to be asked to appear voluntarily and that subpoenas would be resorted to only when the committee deems it necessary.

LaGuardia had been suggested as a witness by both Flynn and his opponents. The five others were proposed by the opposition.

Connally refused today to venture a forecast of the outcome although there were indications the vote would be almost along party lines. Democrats outnumber Republicans on the committee 16 to seven.

Senator Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire, who brought the original charges of unfitness against Flynn and participated in the questioning yesterday although not on the committee, also declined to predict what the committee would do.

The initial hearing was marked by a cry of "perjury" against Flynn's own disclaimer of any wrongdoing while he was Bronx County sheriff and New York city chamberlain, plus a running conflict between Connally and Sidney Baron, 30-year-old Brooklyn public relations counsel and secretary of a committee to re-open the Flynn (paving block) case.

Baron testified that Flynn had perjured himself in earlier testimony, and declared more than 20 persons, whom he called as witnesses, would prove that the former Democratic national chairman lied on every main point of his defense.

Besides LaGuardia, the committee invited these men to appear Friday: District Attorney Samuel Foley of the Bronx, William H. Herlands, New York city commissioner of investigation, Robert Moran, former Bronx commissioner of public works, Paul J. Kern, former New York civil service commissioner, and Daniel Daly, foreman of the grand jury that investigated the use of city materials and labor to pave a courtyard on Flynn's Putnam County (N. Y.) farm. The grand jury exonerated Flynn of any blame.

Most, if not all, of these witnesses were expected to be questioned about the paving block episode. Flynn told the investigators yesterday he knew nothing about the use of city materials and labor on the courtyard, or parking lot as he called it, until the work was done and then he promptly paid the costs of about $750.

Flynn appeared angered as Baron accused him of perjury, but brightened perceptibly when committee members demanded direct evidence, and particularly when Connally asked Baron to "Speak a little louder, the public can't hear you."

Baron proposed that LaGuardia

FLYNN ON STAND

Edward J. Flynn, recently resigned Democratic national committeeman and minister-designate to Australia, took the stand before the Senate foreign relations committee to answer critics here he explains that when he swore in the late Arthur Flegenheimer as a special deputy sheriff in the Bronx he did not know Flegenheimer was Dutch Schultz, the gangster.

EVANGELINE GILLIS,
PHILIP A. MARTIN WED

Reception at Viking Follows Marriage Ceremony in St. Augustin's Church

Miss Evangeline Gillis, daughter of Mrs. Andrew Gillis of 82 Marchant street and the late Mr. Gillis, and Staff Sergeant Philip A. Martin, son of John A. Martin of 20½ Bay View avenue and the late Mrs. Martin, were married in St. Augustin's Church Wednesday evening by the Rev. Joseph P. Coleman, the pastor. Miss Imelda M. Gillis was maid of honor. Thomas H. O'Loughlin was best man.

The bride wore white satin with a lace bodice and a finger veil with a tulle of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore powder blue broadcloth taffeta with a floral tulle and shoulder veil and carried pink roses.

The bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward J. Gillis, played the traditional wedding music. A reception for the immediate families at the Hotel Viking followed the ceremony. After the wedding trip of the couple, Sergeant Martin will resume his duties with the army air corps.

CASUALTY LIST DAILY

Navy Announces Change From Periodical Announcement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The navy announced today that, effective immediately, all casualties of the navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard would be announced in a daily list instead of in periodical accumulations as heretofore.

The first daily list, containing the names of 14 men killed, 15 wounded and 43 missing, was made public Wednesday. The navy will continue to follow the policy of notifying next of kin before making the names public.

The New England list today carried no Rhode Island names.

should be questioned on whether he had not at least twice declared that "compared with Ed Flynn, Boss Tweed was just an amateur crook." Flynn had suggested LaGuardia be called in the belief the mayor would testify Flynn had been a victim of a political "frameup."

Baron charged Flynn had perjured himself when he testified he gave the late Dutch Schultz, notorious gangster, a "special deputy" badge in 1935 while Flynn was sheriff. He said Schultz was made a deputy sheriff and there was no such title as "special deputy sheriff."

Flynn testified that he gave Schultz the honorary, non-salaried appointment under the name of Arthur Flegenheimer, not knowing the man was Schultz, the gangster.

J. Crocker Titus, master of St. Paul's Lodge of Masons, has received word that Isaac C. King, chief pharmacist mate, U. S. N., was killed in action in the Solomon Islands. Mr. King was a member of the lodge and had been previously stationed here.

Other men associated with the local organization who have been commended for outstanding service to the country are Commander Jesse D. Jewell, M. C.,

U. S. N., who received the Navy Cross for meritorious service following the attack on Pearl Harbor; Brigadier General Lyman J. Lemnitzer, who was member of the mission headed by General Mark Clark and laid the ground work for military action in North Africa; Boyd W. McKenzie, formerly chief carpenter and now advanced to the rate of ensign, who was on carrier Yorktown and received commendation for the efforts of his crew after the fatal attack on the ship. All of these men formerly served at various naval and military posts in this vicinity.

More than 200 members of St. Paul's are now in the armed services of the country and serving in all parts of the world. Many messages are received by the officers of the lodge relating interesting experiences of the men.

RESCUE SQUAD WINS HIGH COMMENDATION

Army Officer Describes Local Unit as Best of Its Kind in New England

The rescue squad of the local Civilian Defense organization, directed by Malcolm Bump, is the best in New England both in training and equipment, in the opinion of Major Thomas A. Donnelly, U. S. A., superintendent of the training office of Civilian Defense in Boston.

Major Donnelly made the statement after a recent inspection of the local squad in action. Congratulations were also added by Edward A. Quinn, chief of training in the State Civilian Defense Council and Roger Wheeler, former Newporter, in charge of the state life saving service. Mr. Bump said the 26 members of the organization merited high praise for the loyal manner in which they have co-operated in the drills held five nights a week.

The Rescue Squad has two well-equipped cars, an ambulance and a rescue car.

LOVING CUPS FOR VICTORY Trophies Augment Atlantic Drive to Scrap Keepsakes

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 21 (AP)—Brother, can you spare a silver loving cup?

The Press-Union Newspapers of Atlantic City have been conducting a unique drive for keepsakes and trophies, augmenting the government's effort to collect scrap metal.

Hundreds of pounds of valuable metal objects have been collected, among them trophies awarded winners of sports events and high loving cups right off the beauty pageant assembly line.

The average "silver" loving cup is about 91 per cent tin, Publisher A. J. Feyl found when he had one analyzed for its metal content. "The government's great

MERRIMACK DECREASES Freezing of Tributaries Cause Concern in Lowell

LOWELL, Mass., Jan. 21 (AP)—A steadily decreasing flow of water in the Merrimack river at Pawtucket dam—due to the freezing of smaller tributaries to the north—caused concern today in Lowell mills, some of which were compelled to use fuel to run auxiliary systems for electricity.

The flow, as reported by locks and canal officials, was 3,000 cubic feet a second, which is 1,000 cubic feet below the average. need for tin will be better understood when it is more generally known that one pound of tin is needed in the manufacture of every airplane motor produced," Feyl said.

CITY FACES $48,000 LOSS IN TAX REVENUE
 Council Head Suggests Plans to Eliminate Difficulty Departments to Be Ordered to Exclude as Many Items as Possible in Budget

Based largely on tangible and personal property valuation losses totalling $340,000, the city faces a maximum loss of tax revenue of $48,000 for the next fiscal year, the budget commission named recently by the Representative Council was told at its first meeting in the city hall Wednesday night. Estimates of the losses were given by John E. Sullivan, chairman of the Board of Tax Assessors, who sat in with the commission. He said that the city would have to go over the statutory limit if it wished to raise the same amount in taxes in the coming fiscal year as it did in the past. Cornelius C. Moore, chairman of the council, who was named chairman of the commission, suggested several plans to eliminate this difficulty and they were voted by the commission. The mayor and the aldermen were directed to order each city department to decide the exact balance on hand, the amount needed for the rest of the fiscal year, and to exclude what they can in this year's items for economy reasons. The mayor and the board also were instructed to decide the fixed charges, the salary lists of all officials, employees and departments on the present scale.

In addition, the heads of all departments were ordered to file at the city clerk's office on or before February 15 an estimate of their needs for the next fiscal year, beginning April 1, and the city treasurer was ordered to submit a schedule of the city's obligations for the next fiscal year. It was said that the highway department was about $33,000 short in its needs to the end of the present fiscal year and the fire department was short about $5,200 because of failure of the last city government to appropriate for the salaries of nine men named to the force last October.

Declaring that the council was off to a "splendid start at the opportune moment to reduce expenses and improve every department in the city," Mr. Sullivan said that the city previously had spent "lavishly" and that in the last 15 years Newport had spent "more than three-fifths over any other city of corresponding size." Mayor Herbert R. Macauley and the aldermen, who met this afternoon, were instructed to review the question of raising wages of the reserve firemen by bringing them from third to first class ranks and submit the matter to the council with a full explanation. The mayor said the procedure would require about $310.

There was a discussion of the matter of filing the tax budget by July 15. Mr. Sullivan was asked to take it up with the city solicitor.

FAT COLLECTIONS GAIN
 Kitchen fats collections again took a jump in Rhode Island according to figures received at the War Production Board. A total of 16,171 pounds of kitchen fats was brought to meat markets by housewives of Rhode Island during the week ending January 13. The collections of kitchen fats during the week of January 16 were 2,000 pounds higher than any previous week since this program began on August 1, 1942.

Miss Doris May Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ellis of 35 Oxford street, Fall River, whose engagement to Robert G. Tilley, son of Mrs. Thomas S. Tilley and the late Mr. Tilley of 10 Halsey street, this city, has been announced. No date has been set for the wedding.

FRANK SHERMAN DIES, PORTSMOUTH RESIDENT
 Was Associated With Agricultural Society, One-Time Member of Newport Artillery

Frank Sherman of East Main road, Portsmouth, died this morning after an illness of several months, at Truesdale Hospital in Fall River. He was born in Portsmouth June 1, 1866, son of the late Benjamin Clarke and Abbie Amelia Sherman.

Mr. Sherman had been associated with the Newport County Agricultural Society, which conducted the Newport County Fair, for many years. He was a past noble grand of Oakland Lodge of Odd Fellows, and a member of Portsmouth Grange, the Friends Church in that town and of the Newport Artillery Company.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. William K. Boyd of West Main road, Portsmouth, and Mrs. Lewis Darling of Eldins Park, Pa., and a brother, Arthur A. Sherman, Portsmouth town clerk.

AID TO REDS GROWS
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The United States and the United Kingdom have sent 8800 tanks and 4600 planes to Russia, the Lend-Lease Administration reported Wednesday with a promise that aid to the Soviet "will grow still more in 1943."

Administrator Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., said that as of January 1 more than 3200 tanks and almost 2600 planes had gone from the U. S. and 2500 tanks and more than 2000 planes from the United Kingdom. Announcing "important progress" last year in supplying the Soviet, Stettinius declared: "The people of the Soviet Union have so far waged a magnificent battle against the Nazis principally with their own arms. But Lend-Lease aid to Russia is growing to a sizable proportion. It will grow still more in 1943."

PROF. BEALE, 81, DIES
 CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 21 (AP)—Joseph Henry Beale, Royall professor of law, emeritus at Harvard Law School, died Wednesday. He was 81 years of age. Internationally known, Professor Beale was reporter for the American Law Institute Restatement on the Conflict of Laws and wrote standard case books of law on many phases of the law.

GOVERNOR ORDERS FIVE-DAY WEEK
 Signs Measure Covering Business, Industry
 New Ruling Allows Schools to Resume Schedules; Danger of Coal Shortage Seen

Exercising for the second time within a week the all-embracing emergency power given him over food, fuel, transportation and other necessities of life and war, Governor J. Howard McGrath today had placed Rhode Island business and industry on a five-day week or its equivalent.

The governor late Wednesday night, after an hours-long meeting with the State Defense Council which gave its approval, signed an order that, though studded with exemptions and making provision for others, has the general effect of adding another Sunday to the week.

The governor readily conceded that the order is not a cure-all; for the fuel oil crisis because of those buildings heated by oil must still somehow get along with only 45 per cent of their normal consumption under the OPA regulations. Rations of less than half of normal will unlikely be sufficient to operate even the allowed five days when the normal week was six days or five and a half. However, so far as the statute can help it, no one is being penalized more than one day or its equivalent.

The governor today swore, in the appeal board which will act on requests for exemptions originally denied. The three members are Judge Mortimer A. Sullivan of the superior court, of this city, who will be chairman; Thomas F. McMahon of Cranston, former state labor commissioner, and Norman MacLeod, of East Providence, head of the Abrasive Tool Company.

Judge Sullivan said the board would be quartered in the Providence County court house but would sit elsewhere in the state when necessary. The board's decisions on appeals, it was said, will be filed with the clerks of various superior courts.

Governor McGrath, meanwhile, said that reaction reaching him thus far on the closing order was favorable.

The governor added that he is still "very fearful" of the coal situation but his order was not issued to meet that problem and that is why he is permitting manufacturing plants which have coal to operate six days a week. If a crisis similar to the oil situation develops with respect to coal it will have to be met, he said.

The second order repeals entirely Order No. 1, which closed schools and public buildings last Monday. Schools now may operate.

The new order allows operations of all schools on the five school days of the week, and in those school buildings burning oil, each superintendent shall determine for himself the advisability of holding sessions in such buildings, or making other arrangements. This change was asked by the governor because the survey of public school buildings which he had made by the Department of Education shows that with completed conversions there are now only forty school buildings throughout the state burning oil. The governor said that if the coal situation reaches a point of danger commensurate with the present oil situation he may at that time have to ask for the resumption of an order to deal with that situation. Public buildings that under Number 1 will be required to close Mondays will henceforth be closed Saturdays instead, except for this week. Buildings that will close on Monday under the order, and customarily would operate on this coming Saturday may so operate. No restriction is placed on manufacturing establishments working on war contracts. Other manufacturers, if they burn coal, may operate six days a week. If they burn oil, they will not operate all day Saturday or Sunday. Retail establishments shall not operate Mondays. Wholesalers may operate five days a week, electing to close either Saturday or Monday, except that on either day they may receive and deliver essential and perishable merchandise. Financial institutions, including banks, savings banks, trust companies, national banks or loan investment companies, credit unions, stock loan companies, building and loan associations, shall not operate on Saturday, Saturdays during the emergency are declared legal holidays for the purpose of the uniform negotiable instrument law. Libraries, places of amusement, recreation and entertainment shall reduce their working hours to 6-7 of the number of hours such establishments operated during the week of January 3 to 9. Such places must, within seven days, file with the director of labor a schedule of their former and new operating hours. Hotels may operate seven days a week, but on Monday shall not be allowed to sell liquor. This does not include the operation of barber shops. Restaurants may operate the number of days they are now operating, but on Mondays cannot sell liquor. Drug stores can operate seven days a week but must, during the week, reduce their usual number of operating hours to 6-7 of their present hours, and on Mondays will be limited to the sale of those articles which they are permitted to sell under the Sunday selling laws and under victualling licenses if they have such. News stores may operate the number of days they are operating at the present time, but will re-

"WHITE CARGO" TOPS STRAND THEATRE BILL
 Hedy Lamarr, Walter Pidgeon Play Leads; "Wrecking Crew" On Program

African rubber plantations form the background for the play, "White Cargo," the screen version of which starts Friday at the Strand Theatre. It features Hedy Lamarr as Tondelayo.

Miss Lamarr exerts a sinister spell over Richard Carlson, playing a young plantation overseer. Walter Pidgeon is teamed with Miss Lamarr, playing the hard-bitten, sullen and determined chief overseer, Witzel.

The story deals with his opposition to young Carlson's romance with the native charmer, the boy's deterioration under the endless heat and primitive conditions of the jungle, and his fiery sweet-heart's attempts to poison him. Frank Morgan plays the bibulous but kindly camp doctor and Henry O'Neill a clergyman working as missionary in the rubber jungles. Reginald Owen has a comedy role as the captain of a river steamer and Bramwell Fletcher plays an overseer.

On the same program will be "Wrecking Crew," starring Richard Arlen, Chester Morris and Jean Parker.

AXIS LOSSES 5 SUBS
 RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Rear Admiral Jonas H. Ingram, commander of United States naval forces in the South Atlantic, announced today that five Axis submarines have been sunk in the last month in the South Atlantic.

duce their total number of hours of operating to 6-7, and on Monday will be limited to the sale of such articles as are permitted to be sold under the Sunday selling laws.

With respect to retail stores, the order is designed to limit the hours that the places will be open to the public for business, and makes provision for necessary operation in the conduct of retail business that are not directly connected with selling to the public.

These exemptions are made in the order:

Works of religion, charity or necessity; radio broadcasting; printing and sale of newspapers; laundries and dry cleaning establishments; bakeries to the extent of baking and making wholesale deliveries and deliveries of bread to homes; unloading common carriers; storage of merchandise and handling of essential and perishable merchandise; services for the war effort; farming; fishing; distribution of milk and delivery of ice; motor vehicles service stations; garages and gasoline stations limited to the servicing of cars and the selling of petroleum products; fuel deliveries; stock brokerage houses; persons doing their ordinary calling in the open and not in a building requiring heat except those engaged in retail deliveries.

OPA HEAD AIMS TO AID CONSUMER

Brown Sees Need of $20,000,000 Deficiency, Transport Subsidy Funds

(By Jack Bell)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Given a free hand to make or break himself, Prentiss M. Brown set sail on stormy OPA seas today with a bid for consumer support of a program envisioning gradually rising prices, increased local controls over rationing and fewer cold homes next winter.

The nation's new price administrator, a Great Lakes boatman of no mean nautical ability, tackled smartly to catch the wind of public and Congressional approval in a press conference declaration Wednesday that he was taking over OPA with the primary objective of protecting the American consumer.

Isolating himself for a 10-day look-see at the inner operations of OPA, Brown went to work on several pressing problems. These included the imminent necessity of going to Congress for a $20,000,000 deficiency appropriation, the need for additional transportation subsidy money and the possibility of a shake-up in his agency's top personnel.

Brown, 63-year-old former Senator from Michigan, took over formally from Leon Henderson with the reputed understanding that he would be given a free hand by James P. Byrnes, his immediate boss, the economic stabilization director, to work out the country's supply and demand problems with the consuming public, Congress and the farmers.

His first contact with Congress in his new role probably will come when he petitions for more money to operate the OPA until the end of this fiscal year. His 10 years of membership in the House and Senate, which ended in defeat for reelection last November, was being counted upon by the administration to smooth the way for this request—a request that leaders feared might have been rejected if Henderson had remained in office.

Next in the order of business for the new administrator may be indirect sponsorship of a Reconstruction Finance Corporation plea for an additional $5,000,000,000 in borrowing and lending authority, a share of which would be used to pay subsidies on the transportation of coal and gasoline in the Eastern states. Brown said flatly he favored transportation subsidies.

LONDON SCHOOL SMASHED BY DAYLIGHT RAIDERS

DAVIS OPTIMISTIC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Elmer Davis, Director of War Information, Wednesday described the war situation as "pretty encouraging, in general," although Axis submarines so far this month have taken a heavier toll of United Nations shipping than in the corresponding period of December.

Full reports on January shipping losses will not be available for about four weeks, he said.

The most encouraging war news, Davis told a press conference, is coming from the eastern front in Russia, but he remarked that the Germans still have a great deal of that territory under their control.

ON HOUSE PRESTIGE

Plumley Tells of Speaker's Power in Cannon Days

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—One way to bolster the prestige of the House, says Charles A. Plumley, Republican, Vermont, veteran Representative, would be to restore to the Speaker the power he held in the heyday of Speaker "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

The House hasn't been quite the same since Plumley, son of a Congressman and a member himself since 1934, since an anti-Cannon "insurrection" shipped Uncle Joe, then Speaker, of most of his powers, nearly 35 years ago.

In Cannon's day, Plumley recalled in an interview, the Speaker appointed all Congressional committees, a task now handled by party committees. He said he was inclined to agree with his friend, Representative Gore, Democrat, Tennessee, that, as Gore said in a magazine article, the Speaker in Cannon's day was actually "second only to the President in power and prestige, and he frequently exercised even more influence over legislation."

CIVILIAN DEFENSE PRAISED

Director Addresses Water Works Group at Luncheon

BOSTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Declaring that events during the last year had proven that civilian defense "is perfectly well able to function for the public's welfare and protection," Joseph M. Loughlin, United States regional civilian defense director, warned today that if the public is lulled into indifference to this program, it will be at such a time that the enemy will strike.

Director Loughlin, in charge of the first civilian defense area, addressed a luncheon meeting of the New England Water Works Association.

Gathered for an air raid precautions school, the water works officials were told by Loughlin that "disaster can overtake us at any place and at any time, and it does not necessarily wait for the impact of the enemy's bombs."

He cited the work done by civilian defense personnel at the time of Boston's Coconut Grove fire as "excellent."

OPA GOES TO COURT

The state OPA office today had taken its first court action to stop reported widespread violations of price ceilings in the state by obtaining a temporary restraining order on three charges against John Hood, doing business as the Big Bear Market at 785 Westminster street, Providence, and Bessie Berman, described as his agent.

Judge John P. Hartigan in federal district court set January 26 for hearing on OPA's motion for a preliminary injunction. Meantime, both respondents are under orders to refrain from violating ceiling and price posting regulations.

LODGE ON PEACE PLANS

BOSTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Republican, Massachusetts, asserts that no peace plans, no matter how attractive they may be, should "divert us from the grim business at hand"—winning the war.

"Let the proper agencies of government be thinking about peace but let no discussion of the peace pull us into thinking that the war will soon be over and we can relax our effort," he told the New England Iron and Hardware Association Wednesday night.

REDS LIST NAZI TOLL

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Reuters quoted a Moscow radio broadcast today as saying that German casualties on the Soviet Russian front in the last six weeks totaled 750,000 men, including 250,000 dead.

REPORTS PRISONERS

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Italian high command communiqué recorded here today declared the Axis had taken 1,500 Allied prisoners in Tunisia.

The high command said these had been rounded up in the last three days, along with booty that included 20 guns.

"Thirty motor vehicles were destroyed," it declared.

U. S. FLIERS RAID BURMA RAIL SITE

Americans, British Daily Pounding Jap Bases Without Loss of Plane

NEW DELHI, Jan. 21 (AP)—United States heavy bombers made a punishing attack Tuesday on railway installations at Thazi, a rail junction in central Burma, 80 miles south of Mandalay, an American army communiqué announced today.

This was part of a series of daily assaults in which the American and British air forces based in India are pounding Japanese bases throughout Burma.

RAF bombers, continuing their round-the-clock assaults of Japanese bases in central and western Burma, blasted the airfield at Toungoo Wednesday night and again attacked off-bombed Akyab Island, a British communiqué announced today.

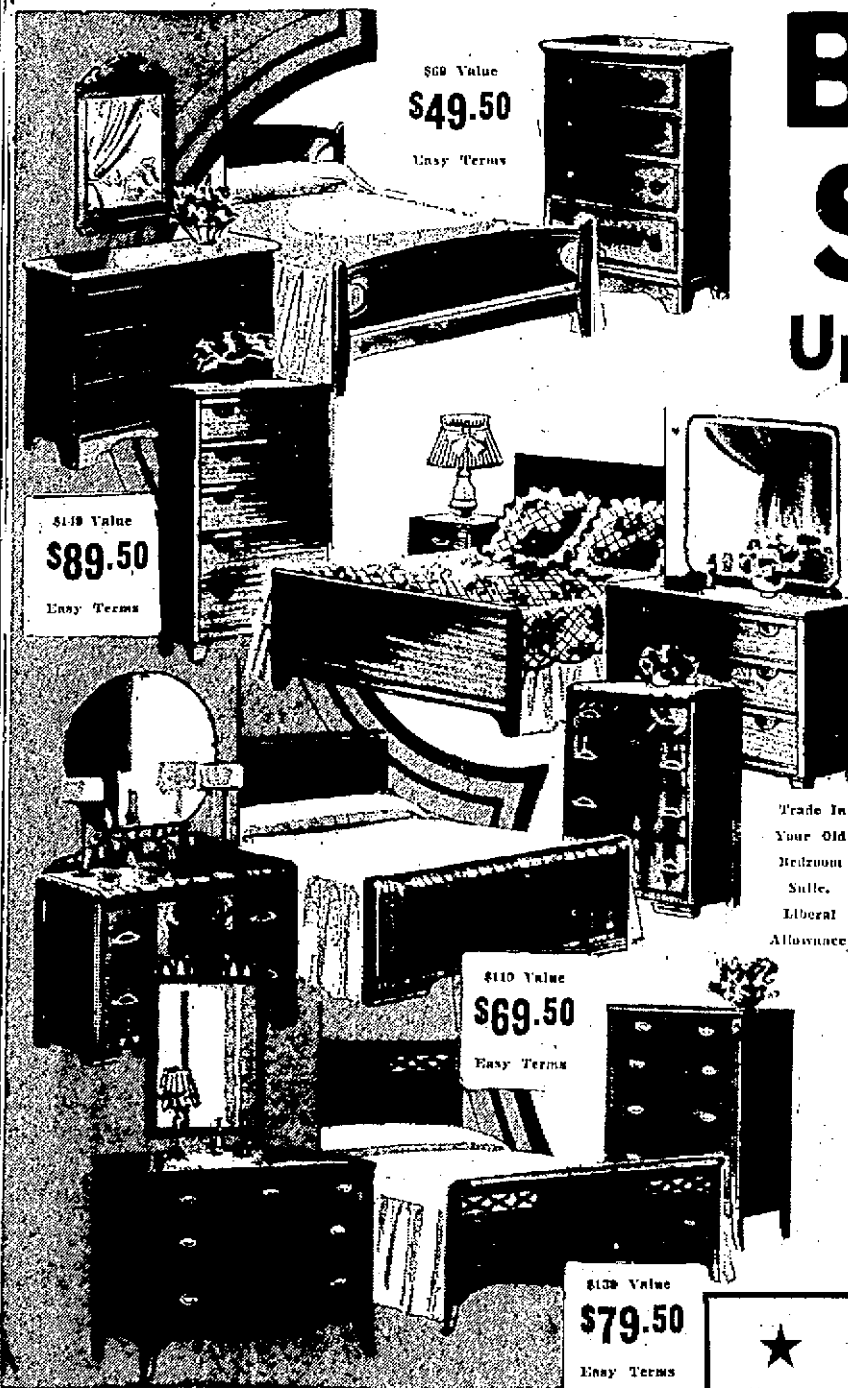

These raids followed daylight attacks on scattered targets, including a train in the Magwe area and an airfield at Schwebo, the announcement said. The preceding night Wellington bombers were reported to have bombed Hekto airfield and the railway junction at Myingyan.

All these operations were carried out without the loss of a single aircraft, the communiqué added.

The bulletin said it had been confirmed that two of four enemy bombers that attacked the Calcutta area Tuesday night had been shot down by RAF fighters. One British plane was shot down in this action but the pilot is safe, the announcement said.

LENINGRAD OPENED

When the news Leningrad's siege had been broken was sent through Russia in a special announcement, it was greeted with much joy. One of the most fortunate happenings since the war started, it was called. Coming as it did, on top of other Soviet army advances, it brought wide-spread hope.

Leningrad, the former St. Petersburg, is regarded with particular affection by the Russians. A city of 1,000,000, one of the largest in the world, it had been tightly held in the Nazis' grip for 17 long months. Hitler's forces were never able to take the city.
Still, its inhabitants were not free to come and go as they wished.

Leningrad, named for the founder of the present Russian state, had been clamped in this vise since August, 1941. When he had blocked off the city, Hitler had high hopes, as he did for Moscow and for Stalingrad later, of actually capturing the place. That would have dealt a staggering, even if not mortal blow to the Russians.

Moscow did not fall, though its case looked black. Stalingrad withstood one of the most powerful attacks ever launched. The Stalingrad siege had turned into a boomerang. There the invading German army is encircled, and what is left of it is expected to be cut to pieces if it refuses to surrender.

With the liberation of Moscow and Stalingrad, the Russians still needed to have the strong hold the Germans had on Leningrad broken.
And smashed it was, apparently in decisive fashion. Russia reports 13,000 Germans were killed and four divisions routed as it blasted a corridor through eight miles of solid Nazi defenses.

That is, of course, a hard blow for the Nazis to take. It piles up their already enormous toll of dead in Russia, where the great Napoleon failed, and where a more ambitious Hitler may start to meet his doom. His Russian adventure now appears to have been something less than glorious for his people.
The Soviet account of the number of Germans slaughtered in smashing through the way to open beleaguered Leningrad is impressive. It should be remembered, though, that this could have been accomplished only at great cost. An assault on eight miles of solid Nazi defenses must have taken the lives of many Russians. The result is probably believed worth such cost.
Russian leaders and people have come to hate the Nazis, to be filled with the purpose of driving them from the home soil. At Leningrad a step toward this, an important one, has been taken.

PHYSICAL HANDICAPS

Even those physically handicapped can now help a great deal in pushing the war ahead to a victorious conclusion. Probably many still feel their disabilities are keeping them from doing their part.
The War Manpower Commission does not look at it that way, though. It is doing about everything possible to get such people into industries where they can help.

Through agreement with the United States Civil Service Commission, physical standards for a great many jobs have been lowered. A truck driver with no feet, a one-handed machinist, a one-armed mechanic, blind dictaphone operators, deaf card-punchers, one-armed messengers, are examples of those who have been given work recently by the government.
In fact, some federal agencies have been specially requesting such handicapped workers when they can do the jobs, since they are not expected to be subject to military call or other interruption of service. Of course, there are several broad requirements. Of these, the two most important seem to be that the applicant can do the job, and that in doing it he will not be a source of danger to himself or to others. These workers are carefully put in places where they will not be causes of disaster.

The War and Navy Departments have both asked their arsenals and shipyards to hire handicapped workers where possible. The army is planning to do this to maintain cargo plane stations, and the bureau of internal revenue recently asked for physically-handicapped bookkeepers.
This seems to be good sense from various points of view. It gives to many of these people who are handicapped means to support themselves so they will not have to depend on others or on the community. It gives them back their sense of pride in themselves and in their working ability. It provides for the country capable workers at a time when they are greatly needed because of the drain arising from the war.
More than anything else, it gives men and women who want to do their share to beat the Axis a chance to know they are actually a part of the great machine we have built up to rid the world of the international gangsters who have threatened its very foundation.

WHITNEY ARTS FUTURE

The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York city, one of the world's greatest museums, has many art treasures. The great majority of them have not been prominently identified with America. A happy solution for this appears to have been reached in its recent announcement that the Whitney Museum of American Art is to become part of the older institution.
Gathered over a period of years,
by the late Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, herself a noted sculptor, the collection of 2,000 examples of American paintings, sculpture and prints had probably a unique position. It was considered a means of encouraging native American artists in the creative field, and gradually it won for itself a firm position in the world of art.
Mrs. Whitney, who did some of her work at her Bellevue Avenue studio here, is understood to have acquired her collection at a cost of around $500,000. In her lifetime there was no question about carrying on this museum - she had founded in 1931. She steadily encouraged creative work among Americans of talent.

Continuing the Whitney collection in the Metropolitan gives assurance that the general public may still have opportunity to look on what is regarded as typical and effective displays by talented men and women of this country. To many, it is most significant that the Metropolitan has been progressive enough to make such an addition. A generation or so ago, adding examples of American artistic handicraft for its collections was a great change.
For the time being, the Whitney collection will be shown in the present Metropolitan building. After the war, it is proposed to erect a separate wing to house the American paintings, sculpture and prints from the Whitney collection. In it will be included other examples of American art that are judged worthy from time to time.
The approval by Mrs. Whitney's daughter, Mrs. G. Macauliffe Miller, of the Metropolitan's decision indicates that the Whitney family is pleased that the future of what had been gathered is assured. Mrs.
Whitney wanted it to be continued, so much so that she left $2,500,000 to the museum she had founded. That it should fit in with the announced policy of the Metropolitan of developing a center for American paintings, sculpture and graphic arts should give it greater permanency, as well as a recognition that seems deserved.

Dr. D. A. Hindman, professor of physical education at the University of Missouri, arrived recently at one of Kansas City's largest hotels equipped with a cot. He had tried to make a room reservation but was informed no rooms were available—except one with no beds.
Business on the Western Airline was too good recently for the convenience of W. A. Coulter of Burbank, Cal., president of the company. He could not get a seat on the plane. It was filled with paid passengers and he was riding on a pass.

A wild fawn ventured onto the slippery ice of Boise river in Idaho and did not do so well. Sheriff Don Headrick treated the animal for frostbite and bruises.
GREEN ROOKIE
FORT JACKSON, S. C., Jan. 21
(AP)—"Color of hair?"
"Green."
"Cut the kidding," growled the reception center sergeant.
"I'm not kidding," replied Private Adia Harwood of Asheville, N. C.
"I don't like it, either."
The sergeant looked up.
Sure enough, the recruit's hair was a grassy green.
It got that way, Private Harwood explained, while he worked with chemicals in a naval ammunition depot.
"I have washed my hair with soap and lots of things, but the color just won't come out," the soldier sighed.

Washington Day Book

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — As the new Congress settles down to work, the income tax pay-as-you-go bandwagon is becoming heavily freighted and Capitol Hill observers are giving heavy odds that something will be done about it before the first 1942 payment becomes due March 15.
This would mean dropping entirely the 1942 tax and collection at the source of a certain percentage of the income. At the end of the year, an adjustment would be made equalizing the tax on all earnings.
Don't get the idea that you will pay any less to Uncle Sam. The Treasury's collections will be just as much in 1943 as if you were paying on your 1942 tax, perhaps more (since incomes are steadily mounting). But it would equalize the tax on a month-to-month basis, spread it over the year, and provide relief for the man whose income suddenly collapses due to inability to work or loss of job.
The pay-as-you-go plan was first proposed in a Senate finance committee hearing by Beardsley Ruml, New York financier and treasurer of one of the nation's largest department stores.
The Ruml plan was something of a bombshell and it has been exploding at intervals ever since.
The Treasury department at first hit the ceiling, but Secretary Morgenthau and his aides now favor the plan in a modified form, their main point of difference

ALLEN F. McDONALD GETS NAVY COMMISSION

Newport Ensign Completes Training in Air Corps; Has Three Brothers in Service

Allen Francis McDonald, son of Mrs. Archibald McDonald of Stacy street and the late Mr. Mc-Donald, has completed training and has been commissioned an ensign in the naval air corps at Jacksonville, Fla.
He has three brothers in the armed forces. One, Private Colin McDonald, is at Fort Ord, Cal., in the morale section. He recently completed a collection of army songs which have since been published by the government for use in camps. Another brother, Private Malcolm McDonald, is at Bainbridge, Ga., where he supervises the men's club at the camp. The third is Parson's Mate Ronald McDonald, who is at the Great Lakes Naval Training School where he is instructor in elementary surgery and other subjects.

NEWPORT SERVICEMEN TELL OF ARMY DUTIES

City Y. M. C. A. Members
Write to John P. J. Nolan, Physical Activities Chairman Letters from Sergeant John Murphy, U. S. A., on duty in the South Pacific, Corporal Joseph Keenan, U. S. A.,
on duty at Camp Gruber, Okla., and Lieutenant David Burke, U. S. A., have recently been received by John P. J. Nolan, chairman of physical activities at the Newport Y. M. C. A.
Each recalled various activities at the "Y" and told of their duties in the army. Sergeant Murphy described a river coming down from the mountains and a swimming pool under a bamboo tree.
He also mentioned hunting with out the limitations of game laws.

SUB LAUNCHED AT PORTS- MOUTH

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Jan. 21 (AP)—The first submarine to be launched this year at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, U. S. S. Cape-lin, slid into the water Wednesday.
The submarine was sponsored by Mrs. Isaac C. Bogart of Chevy Chase, Md., wife of Captain I. C.
Bogart, U. S. N., who is on active duty. The launching was witnessed by only a small group of guests and employes.

WAR WIDOW

(J. H. F. M'Ewen in The Sunday Times, London)
It is not thus - that I should mourn my dead - they say! (Yet who is he but mine alone?)
Not thus - with a clear eye, an unbowed head and upright bearing - (yea, a heart of stone, say if ye will) - nor any sign of grief, or subtle traits of manifested woe such as ye love to flaunt, despite ye mockers. But he would have had it so.
A great and honorable death he died in battle: I would live with strength no less than he has shown in dying, and my pride shall treble ward my traitor bitterness.
Therefore do I rejoice. (Can't understand?)
He shall come back! (ah, now these eyes are dim);
unto his place - he'll lead me by the hand:
and when he comes - shall I not welcome him!

EQUAL RIGHTS RAISES QUESTIONS

Measure Before Congress Called of Vital Import to Every Woman

(Written For The Associated Press
By Adelaide Kerr)

The first legislative measure introduced before the Seventy-Eighth Congress is one of vital importance to every woman in the world. It is a proposed amendment to the Constitution giving the women of the United States equal rights with men.

Though it is not a new proposal, it was introduced this year with the biggest Congressional support it has ever had—40 Representatives introduced it in the House and 21 Senators will sponsor its introduction in the Senate. It is offered as a corollary to the nineteenth amendment (which gave women the vote) and is simply phrased in 18 words: "Men and Women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction."

The amendment has raised legal questions which have divided the opinion of women's organizations. Backing it strongly are the National Woman's Party, which sponsored it, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and 15 other national organizations. Opposing it are the Young Women's Christian Association, the National League of Women Voters, and various other organizations and labor groups.

The Arguments Pro

Anita Pollitzer, chairman of the New York city committee of the National Woman's Party, sounds her group's chief argument:

"Many people believe that when the federal suffrage amendment was passed women got their rights. But the suffrage amendment gave women only the right to vote. Now there are more than 1,000 discriminations under the law which affect women in different ways in different states."

"When we first began to work for equal legal rights for women, we worked on specific bills to cure specific ills. But we learned that after we got a bill passed improving the condition of women, the next legislature could overturn it. We found out that the only permanent way to make gains for women was an equal rights amendment."

The Arguments Against

Rose Schneiderman, secretary of the New York state department of labor, voices labor's objections to the measure: "We have worked for certain laws such as the minimum wage law for women which we think give women more equality than a blanket amendment. The equal rights amendment will cancel these because it would be construed that women shall not have any legislation men do not have."

Lena Madson Phillips, New York lawyer and president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, answers labor's attack with: "Nothing as important and far-reaching as according women equal rights under the law could come without considerable confusion and perhaps some temporary injustice. But the principle is right. If this amendment destroys the minimum wage laws, we can pass new ones for both men and women."

Judge Dorothy Kenyon, New York lawyer and former judge of the New York municipal court, objects to the equal rights amendment on these grounds:

"This amendment would take away the power to enact protective legislation and that power should always be preserved."

"Besides, there is no parallel for this legislation," she said. "It would have over an enormous field of personal relations to the federal government. The federal government has no jurisdiction in the field of domestic relations. The law of domestic relations is a matter for the state alone. The judges will have no standards to guide them."

HEART ACTION IN SLEEPER

Observations Show Speed Up of Beats Due to Two Theories

(By H. W. Blackledge, Associated Press Science Editor)

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—For several minutes before a sleeping person shifts position, his heart beats faster. In the last minute before the movement his heart speeds up very sharply.

In the minute after the movement, the heart drops down again to its sleeping rate of beating. And then for a couple more minutes the heart slows even more, as if taking a rest from the effort of moving the sleeper.

These observations are reported in Science by M. M. Jackson, of the United States Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I. They were made with an electrical instrument whose presence did not disturb the sleeper.

The speed-up of the heart beats is attributed to two theories, one that sleep in one position has interfered with circulation of blood, producing congestion, and the other to an overheating of some portion of the skin.

Dr. Jackson says the heart action is evidence in favor of the theory that interference with circulation is the cause of a sleeper's movements.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Mervyn LeRoy is one "boy wonder" who grew up and still remains a wonder boy.

Although he has been a consistent winner in the movie-directing business, he has consistently stayed out of the sanctified ranks of the Geniuses—Hollywood style.

"Once," he says, "a press agent offered to make me a Genius for $100 a week, but I turned him down. I don't believe there are Geniuses in directing—there are just good stories. The play's the thing."

"In which," he adds with a twinkle, "Shakespeare agrees with me."

LEROY is 42 now, a small (five feet eight inches), blue-eyed, dark-haired man with a generally genial manner and a long cigar clamped between his teeth, and the same boundless enthusiasm that has been his great asset since he first sold papers outside a San Francisco theater.

From vaudeville—where he once billed himself enthusiastically as "The Boy Tenor of the Generation"—he bounded into Hollywood. His bounding hit a stone wall until, through his cousin Jesse Lasky's intervention, he joined the ranks of film magnates—folding costumes in the wardrobe department. After other minor jobs, he wangled a chance to direct at the old First National.

His first picture was "No Place to Go," with Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes.

This year he has directed two of M-G-M's top films, "Random Harvest" and "Johnny Eager." Other LeRoy films: "Five Star Final," "Fugitive from a Chain Gang," "Tugboat Annie," "Anthony Adverse," "They Won't Forget," "Wizard of Oz," "Escape."

"You look 'em over," he says, "and you'll see it's always the story—and no one kind of story, either. I don't believe in the idea that one man's good for comedy, another for drama."

Some of his films have been hailed for "social consciousness." "I picked them, like the others, for their stories. I'm a liberal, but I don't know one 'ism' from another."

The LeRoy enthusiasm holds, once he's started on a film, until the end. Usually, then, he is so worn out that he swears he'll quit pictures. He used to go on vacations. After three weeks they'd send him, script something he liked, and he'd race back to the studio, raring to go.

HULL ON TUNISIA BATTLE

Urges Americans to Pay Closer Attention to War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull vigorously appealed to Americans Wednesday to pay closer attention to the battle for Tunisia, lest it be obscured by too much public preoccupation with political and social questions in French Africa.

Hull's remarks were precipitated when a questioner at his press conference asked all Nazi-inspired laws in French Africa had been revoked since the American occupation.

The Secretary replied with some sharpness that he wished his countrymen could keep their minds on the war for a while.

He said he made no effort to keep up with all the detailed non-military developments in North Africa, but had complete confidence in those who were charged with responsibility there, and looked to Eisenhower, General Dwight D. Eisenhower and his advisers to handle the situation.

CHAIN FOOD STORES IN- DIGESTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Justice Department announced Wednesday indictment of Safeway Stores, Inc., and Kroger Grocery and Baking Company—top units in the nation's second and third largest retail food store chains—and 11 subsidiary companies and 18 individuals on charges of violating anti-trust laws.

LONDON SCHOOL TOLL 41

3 Teachers Among Those Killed in Nazi Daylight Raid

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The known death toll in the London school smashes by a German bomb Wednesday was raised to 44 today, after rescue workers worked through the night in the debris.

Three teachers were among the killed; the rest were children. Fifty others were reported injured. One enemy fighter, that appeared off the southeast coast of England was shot into the sea this morning by British fighter planes, an authoritative statement said.

A strong force of RAF planes was reported to have headed across the English Channel toward Dieppe this afternoon. Medium bombers flew toward the German-occupied coast with squadrons of fighters on guard above them.

WOOL FOR LOUNGING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—To help people keep warm, WFB Wednesday revoked a prohibition against the use of wool in bathrobes and other lounging wear.

The new order permits a maximum of 65 per cent, new wool in lounging robes, bathrobes, beachcoats, housecoats, negligees, lounging pajamas and similar apparel. The balance of the fabric can be made of reclaimed or reused wool, wool nolls, or other types of fabric, such as cotton or rayon.

Habson—LOOK DOWN FROM HEAVEN

The central figure is a Finnish-American girl who goes through a hard school but who starts and finishes with her chin up. The setting is a small Massachusetts seaside town and the time from 1905 to the year immediately following World War I. Though the story illuminates a distinct period in recent history, it is really Mary, and the world as seen and felt by her, that the reader comes to know.

Kent—MRS. APPELEYARD'S KITCHEN

Many readers of "Mrs. Appleyard's Year" dwell with mouth-watering enthusiasm on those passages of the book that deal with food. In this new book Mrs. Appleyard's ideas about things to eat are set forth with charm, humor and good taste. Though it is first of all a book to be read, it is also exceedingly practical.

Lochner—WHAT ABOUT GERMAN?

For fourteen years, Louis P. Lochner was head of the Associated Press in Berlin. He was one of the last Americans to leave Germany, reaching America as late as June of last year. His book, therefore, is a particularly authentic appraisal of Germany today, its strength and weaknesses.

Crofts—FEAR COMES TO CHALFONTE

A new Inspector French detective story, in which this well-established English sleuth is assigned to investigate a murder, and at the same time, initiate a young sergeant of police into the secrets of his profession. The result is an interesting example of careful and systematic detection with a dramatic ending in which the gully person unsuspectingly steps into a cleverly contrived plot.

Eisenberg—MY UNCLE NEWT

He was definitely an old reprobate, but not of the lovable type. He descended upon the boarding house like an ill wind. With irresistible humor, Frances Eisenberg pursues Uncle Newt's adventures in the small southern city, and the story is sure to be greeted with fervor in this year when comic relief is worth its weight in rubber.

Childs—I WRITE FROM WASHINGTON

The exciting and consistently interesting story of Washington during the past nine years, spanning one of the most revolutionary and significant administrations of American history, a "first-hand" characterization of almost everyone from the President down, by the well-known reporter and author of "Sweden, the Middle Way."

Marsman—I ESCAPED FROM HONG KONG

A book for anyone who has the courage to learn what really happens when a city is captured by the Japanese, what is done by men who look upon cruelty as a demonstration of their superiority. It is a story of riot, panic, bravery, heroism, futile efforts, and magnificent personal achievement. The author is a Dutch-born United States citizen with varied business interests in the Far East.

Stevenson—CROOKED ARM.

A crippled young English professor, interested in the invention of a ray to contact and ground planes, goes to Scotland for the first experiment. There he finds a charming gentleman, owner of a castle, and his beautiful daughter. Romance and danger grow. Nazi submarines lurk in the water nearby, and Adam finds himself up against a shrewd group of Nazi spies. The setting and the charming, plausible but untrustworthy characters all give unusual intensity to an excellent spy-story.

TANK CARS AVAILABLE

Representative Rogers Seeks to Have Some Sent to New England

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Representative Rogers, Republican, Massachusetts, says he has been informed that 1,800 additional tank cars have become available in the last 10 days for transporting fuel oil to the East in an effort to relieve the fuel shortage. Mrs. Rogers is endeavoring, she says, to have as many of the cars as possible routed to New England, where the shortage is acute.

In addition, the Massachusetts representative says, WFB has approved the assignment of 892 trucks to replace tank cars now being used in shuttling oil short distances, in such shipping areas as Chicago. This would release the tank cars for long hauls into the East, she says, and the transfer probably will be completed by February 1.

Mrs. Rogers plans to confer today with officials of the War Production Board in an effort to have 5,000 new tank cars constructed.

NUTRITIOUS FOOD IN YOUTH STRESSED

Milk Among Things Listed for Daily Meals, to Protect Health

(By Wilda Canery, R. N., Community Service Society Of New York)

Recently the draft findings on a group of young Americans—health records—of these same compared with the childhood health records—of these same boys. It was found that their nutrition as youngsters was definitely associated with the development of defects. Surely no American mother needs further incentive to feed her family properly. These foods used every day will help to protect health:

Milk—At least two cups for each child. It can be used as a beverage, on cereals and in cooked foods.

Tomatoes or citrus fruits—At least one serving a day of canned or fresh tomatoes, oranges, grapefruit or tangerines. Other fruits—at least one serving daily, either fresh or canned.

Leafy or root vegetables—At least one serving daily and more if possible. Include a green, leafy vegetable several times a week. One or two servings of potatoes daily.

Eggs—At least three each week. More than one a day is not desirable, especially for small children.

Water—From four to eight glasses a day depending on how much milk and fruit juices you take. Drink one or two cups of water between each meal.

Cereals and breads—Bread or cereal, one or both, at each meal. Half of the grain products should be whole grain.

Meat, meat substitute, fish,

FIRE KEEPS CAR PARKED OVERTIME

FIRE IN PEORIA

At Least 8 Injured in Blaze in Five-Story Hotel

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 21 (AP)—Fire attacked the five-story Pashal Hotel in the heart of Peoria's business district this morning, injuring at least eight persons. The fire raged out of control two hours after it was discovered and fire officials said it would be several hours before they could determine whether any of the 55 guests in the hotel had been trapped in the 160-room structure. Scores of roomers escaped from the burning building by jumping into firemen's nets, while others fled on outside fire escapes. Eight persons were taken to St. Francis Hospital, suffering from burns, effects of smoke and strains.

SOME HAWAII RIGHTS BACK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The White House has announced an agreement had been reached for a "substantial restoration of functions to the appropriate civilian authorities" in Hawaii.

While details of the new arrangements worked out by the War, Justice and Interior Departments and Hawaii's governor, are to be announced in the territory, the White House said martial law would remain in effect and writ of habeas corpus would continue to be suspended.

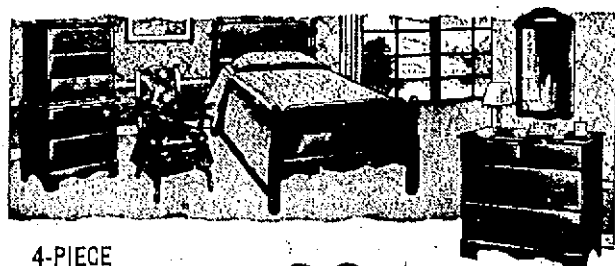

The commanding general of the army's Hawaiian department retains jurisdiction over some civilian activities, but the agreement "contemplates that there will be further restoration of jurisdiction to the civilian authorities when and as the military situation permits."

RUSSIA'S AGE REPLACEMENT

General Zhukov Regarded Second Only to Stalin as Leader[Written For The Associated Press]

When fall fell last year on the Russian front and it came time for the Reds to carry the ball, Coach Josef Stalin plucked General Gregory Zhukov from his reserves to lead the Soviet drive in the Moscow area.

This year, when fall again came and the Nazis were dangerously close to the goal-line in the Volga, Zhukov again took over in the south.

In both years he replaced Marshal Timoshenko, who took over other winter time jobs.

Zhukov, 47 years of age, is a veteran warrior. A pre-revolution Bolshevik, he gained wide acclaim for masterly fighting in 1938 in Outer Mongolia, and for his use of large tank masses in battles.
He moved to command of the Kiev garrison, became chief of the Red army's general staff, was called by Pravda "fighting, experienced, of great energy." This summer he commanded an offensive near Rastav, was appointed vice commissar of defense—second only to Stalin as military leader.

FRANCES FARMER TO REST

Screen Actress to Go to Sanitarium; to Have Medical Care

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21 (AP)— Instead of serving six months in the county jail, Frances Farmer, screen actress, will be placed in a sanitarium to rest and receive medical care.

This was decreed Wednesday by Superior Judge Dudley S. Valenline after a brief sanity hearing.
"She's a sick girl and needs quiet and rest," testified Mrs.
Genevieve Dodge, chief probation officer of the county psychopathic ward, the only witness. "She has great talent."

Miss Farmer was released in the custody of the probation officer.

Searching for an Amusing Hobby? Try Molding Clay Rock

PUZZLES

Animal Ornaments and Doll Dishes
Are Shaped up from Balls of Clay

By Katherine Disinger

ALMOST every boy or girl has at some time enjoyed making articles from modeling clay. However, now you are going to learn how to make lasting, very attractive little objects from another kind of clay called clay rock.

A pound of clay rock will make several little animals—or a whole set of doll dishes. The clay rock can be bought from any store carrying school supplies, and it is quite inexpensive usually about six or seven cents a pound. It comes in a thick, square cake.

Besides the clay you will need a can in which to soak it, a flattened stick or paddle, a square of cardboard on which to work, and an old cloth to cover the clay while it is drying.

The night before you plan to work on the clay, put it in the can and add one cup of water. The clay is soaked overnight. The next day it should be well mixed and kneaded with the flat stick until the mixture resembles moist mud.

Then take up the clay in large handfuls and throw it several times against the cement walk or flat rock. This is called wedging and its purpose is to remove the air bubbles so that the finished piece will not crack.

Shaping the Piece

To make any clay piece, a round ball is first rolled between the palms of the hands, then molded with the hands into the desired shape. The hands should be dipped in water frequently to keep the clay soft and pliable as it is being worked. Large bumps may be scraped or shaved off with a knife, but care must be taken not to work the clay too thin. As each piece is finished, wrap it in a wet cloth and let it dry slowly. The drying takes about a week.

To make plates for the doll's table, the clay ball is pressed flat on the cardboard and smoothed. Saucers are made in the same way from smaller balls of clay. Cups, a cream pitcher, sugar bowl, and dishes are made by pressing out the centers of the balls with the thumbs and shaping the piece with the fingers.

To make handles, take a very small ball of clay and roll between the palms of the hands until you have a round coil. Press the handles in place, smoothing the joinings well. Make a little round top with tiny handle for the sugar bowl.

Animals Are Easy

Little animals—an elephant or a duck or a turtle—are fun to make, too. The easiest is a turtle, which is made by slightly flattening a ball of clay and pulling out the head, legs, and tail from the body and shaping with the fingers. With a toothpick or orange stick, make his eyes, and the markings on the back and along the edge of the shell.

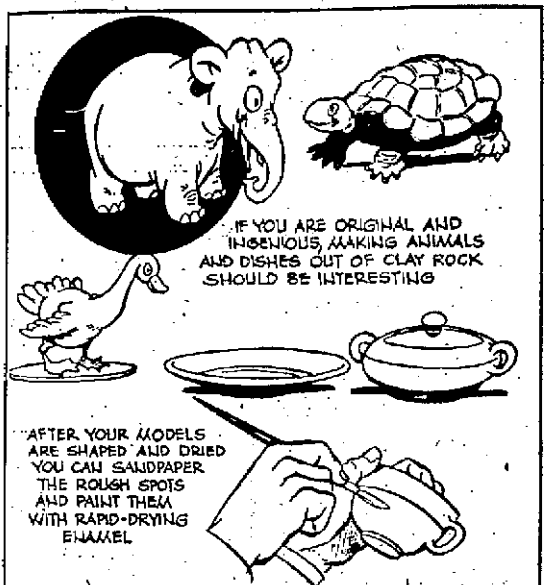

A duck is easily shaped. Place it on a round base, formed by laying a round clay ball on the cardboard and flattening it with your thumbs. Make a round smooth base about 2½ inches in diameter and ½-inch thick.

To make the elephant a round ball is first rolled between the palms of the hands for the head; a larger oblong makes the body. The two shapes are then brought together by pressing clay from the end of the body well over the end of the head. The legs and tail are pulled out from the body and shaped. The legs are kept quite heavy to prevent cracking, as is the trunk, which is pulled out from the head. The ears are little round balls of clay shaped and blended to the head. Markings are pressed in with the thumb or fingers. Make the eyes with a toothpick or match.

Other animals may be made in the same way.

When the clay piece is thoroughly dry, unwrap it and sandpaper well. This is to remove all finger marks and rough places from the object.

Then, using a small paint brush or water color brush, give the article one coat of clear shellac. When the shellac is dry, the piece is to be painted with rapid-dry enamel in any color you wish.

Checker Trick Is Based on Science, Looks Like Magic

Cousin Nat, who attends an Eastern college, was visiting his young cousins, Elmer and Leona. They had just returned from the theater, and Leona was still mystified by the tricks the magician had performed.

"There are no 'magic' tricks of any kind," explained Nat. "Every trick is based upon some scientific law. A very clever magician can fool the audience by the way he presents his trick, and can talk a great deal about things other than his stunt, thus diverting his audience's attention. But there is nothing supernatural about stunts, especially of the 'magic' type."

"A trick which is very effective is the following: Stack ten checker men on top of each other, making a tower. With the back of a table knife strike at the bottom piece and you can knock it out without upsetting the pile. This may seem extraordinary, but it only proves that concentrated force at one particular point may be effective at that one point without affecting any other point nearby, or at a great distance away."

Tireless Detectives

tempted. Then he shook his head. "The best I can do is try to get him something within a few days," he said. "You give me a $25 binder now, or get it out here this afternoon, and I'll go to work."

Beady wasn't very happy about the arrangement, but he pretended to agree. He was trying desperately to figure a way of getting another look at those tires.

"Have you any cars in the garage that we might look at, so we can give this man an idea what he'll be getting?" he asked.

Joe shook his head coldly. "Got only one car that takes that size tire, and it will be going out in a few minutes. Well, if you haven't got the $25 with you, you'd better be on your way to get it. So long."

After that, there was nothing left for them to do but leave. Outside, Beady mulled disgustedly under his breath.

"Boy, we sure struck out on that one," he said. "Didn't even get inside the garage."

"What do we do now?" Blub demanded.

Beady thought for a moment. "I've got it, Blub!" he cried. "That young fellow in the garage, Jake, is taking that car out in a few minutes, and remember he said it was going to Towbridge. We'll go out on the highway and pretend we're hitchhiking to Towbridge. He'll probably recognize us and pick us up. Then we'll figure a way to get a look at the tires."

"But how?" Blub persisted.

"I don't know, yet," Beady returned sharply. But we've got to do something. This is our last chance. If those tires get to Towbridge, they're gone, and we'll never know if they were stolen from Dad's car."

"Okay," said Beady. "I'm game for anything if we can just figure something out."

"Let's get out on the highway. We'll plan something as we go."

They discussed the problem as they hurried through the village and out the highway. By the time they had reached a good spot for ride-thumbing Beady had evolved a plan. It was a risky and desperate plan, to be sure, but it was the best they could do on short notice.

They had a wait of almost a half hour before they saw a big old car approaching along the road.

"That's it!" Beady cried. "Now if he only stops."

They thumbed frantically as the car drew up to them without slowing down. Then the young fellow at the wheel recognized them and braked the car to a stop.

"Gee, thanks!" Beady cried as they piled into the front seat beside him. "We thought we were never going to get a pickup."

"You going to Towbridge?" the boy inquired.

"Part way," Beady explained. "My friend here has an aunt who lives near there."

For a time they rode in silence. Then, as they were approaching a lonely stretch of road, without a car in sight, Blub, who was on the outside, suddenly uttered an exclamation.

"Heh!" he cried. "There's a pocketbook lying on the edge of the road."

Abruptly the driver applied the brakes. Blub jumped out of the car, but so did the driver. Side by side they ran back toward the mythical pocketbook.

Plywood Is Used To Make Useful
Hanging Shelves

By Katherine Honison

To make this hanging shelf you'll need ¼-inch plywood for the shelves, a piece of fine chain, and a hinge or drapery rod ornament.

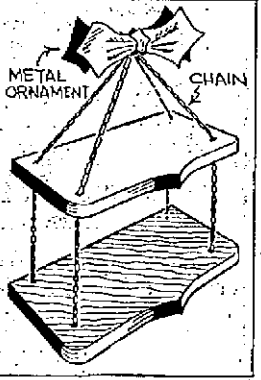

The size of your shelves and the number will depend on where you want to use it. You can curve or scallop the edges, or leave them straight and just round the corners. Draw the design on the wood, then cut the shelves out with your jig saw.

Drill small holes in all four corners of each shelf, making them large enough to take the chain. Smooth all rough edges with sandpaper and enamel them any color you prefer. A contrasting color, on the edge, is effective.

The length of chain you need will depend on the size of your shelves, the number, and how far you want them apart. Thread one end of the chain down through the back hole on the left side of all the shelves, leaving a piece above the top shelf long enough for hanging it. Bring the chain across the underside of the lowest shelf and up through the front holes on the left side. Measure the length for hanging, then thread the chain down through the front holes on the right side of the shelves, across under the last shelf and up through the holes at the back.

Adjust the shelves evenly and wrap fine wire around the chain under each shelf to keep it in place. Now wire all the chains together at the top to make a loop to hang the shelf by, and cover the joint with a fancy metal ornament, wired into place.

Wings for Youth

By I. R. Hegel

SHEET METAL WORKER

Lloyd Kandle of Eaton, Indiana, wants to know something about sheet metal workers, how much education they should have and the sort of surroundings they work in.

A high school education is a good foundation for all workers on metals. If this can be supplemented by a trade school course or one of those three-month sheet metal courses at an approved air school, so much the better.

There must be a reading knowledge of blueprints, geometry for pattern development, a certain familiarity with tools and graphic instructions, and the ability to use precision instruments, do lofting and make templates.

For boys, college specialization in mechanical drafting is to be recommended. With added training, there is always an opportunity to advance into a supervisory position.

Most airplane factories are air-conditioned. Sheet metal work is therefore done in light, clean, healthful surroundings. That's one reason why so many women are taking up the trade and specializing in it. If there are hazards, they are present only in operating machines and hand tools. These hazards are small.

The preferred age for unskilled sheet metal workers is 18 to 30. A skilled man can look forward to years of productive work if he has average speed, accuracy and dependability. Pay is good, ranging from $85 a month for the apprentice to $400 a month for the superintendent.

There are training courses for women in sheet metal work. Girls who are interested may write I. R. Hegel, the Boys and Girls Page, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope, please.

"Should Bank" be written with a capital B?"

"Of course; a bank is no good without a 'large capital'."

Winning Too Much

YOU'VE probably often been told how important it is to be a good loser. You have been advised always to try hard to win, but to accept defeat gracefully when it comes. That's good advice. And here's one thing that will make you bear defeat more willingly if you remember it: a good licking is sometimes the best thing that can happen to you. There is such a thing as winning too much. Constant victory gives you an exaggerated idea of your own ability and your own importance. Then it's time for you to get a good beating, so you won't lose your modesty and your good sense.

Moreover, the only way you can learn to be a good loser is by losing once in a while, so you get to know how it feels. If you win too much, the chances are very great that, when you are finally beaten, your sportsmanship won't be all it should be. This has happened to many a great champion, and it always comes as a shock to us when some person we have admired greatly throughout his days of victory, doesn't stand up just right under defeat.

What Has Already Happened

When Beady Bates and his friend, Blub Holcomb, go to Harry's Auto Lot to sell Beady's useless junk for scrap, Mr. Gold, the proprietor, invites them to his home where Beady might buy "bootleg" tires. That night the boys take two girls to a school party in the money family car, and while it is parked all four tires are stolen. Vowing to catch the thieves, Beady decides he may get a clue through Mr. Gold. The next morning he and Blub go to Harry's Auto Lot, saying they are looking for some spare tires for a man in the hotel of earning a commission. Mr. Gold sends them to the little town of Meyerville, to see a man named Joe who runs a garage there. Joe is not at the garage, but Jake, a mechanic, is working on an old car, and nearby a few more good 6.50-16 tires. Beady thinks they are the tires from his father's car, and they hurry from the garage to find a telephone and call Mr. Baines.

Installment IV

THEY saw a sign on the restaurant announcing that it contained a public telephone, but Beady pointed out that they couldn't use it.

"Joe, the garage man, may still be in there," he said. "If he overheard us making the call, he'd catch on to our game at once."

They walked down the street looking for another public telephone. There was one in a gasoline station, but it was not in a booth, so they dared not use it. Finally, almost at the other edge of town, they came to a drugstore with a booth, and Beady quickly put in a call for his father.

"Hello, Dad?" he said tensely when his father answered. "This is Beady. I'm out in Meyerville, and I think I have track of your tires. But to be sure, I've got to have the serial numbers. Can you give them to me?"

"Just a minute," Mr. Baines cried. "I have them on a slip in my billfold."

Beady waited impatiently until his father read off the serial numbers of his four tires, which Beady hastily scribbled on a scrap of paper. Then Mr. Baines demanded further details, but Beady told him he didn't have better.

CULTIVATOR OPERATOR

The money-making idea submitted by George Wallace of Felton, Delaware is short and sweet—sweet enough to win George this week's prize of $100 in War Stamps.

Last summer I earned money to buy War Stamps by using a walking cultivator," George reports. "I helped cultivate corn and asparagus, and I also raised about 120 hills of tomatoes. I am hoping to turn my stamps into a bond."

Well, the stamps we're sending you will help you realize that ambition, George. And we particularly approve of your way of making money because you helped relieve the shortage of farm labor.

Just how do YOU earn money? If you have a good way that you have used as a Money Maker, write all the details of it to the Money Makers Editor of the Boys and Girls Page, care of this paper. Write today!

Magazine 'Logs' Will Produce Colored Fire

By Mabel Worth

The open fire becomes a popular place in winter, both for the family and when friends drop in. Colored fire is attractive. Have you ever made Joy Logs? It's not difficult. Here's how:

Roll three good-sized magazines very tightly and tie at each end and also in the middle. Soak for ten days in a solution of ten cups of rock salt, ten cups of bluestone and about three gallons of water, depending on the size of the container.

Place as many "logs" in the solution as can be covered with the liquid. Allow to dry thoroughly before using—usually about six weeks.

If a man smashed a clock, would he be convicted of killing time? Not, if the clock struck first.

TAX SAVINGS NOTES

DUE TO GO ON SALE

R. I. Victory Fund Committee Sponsors Program for Meeting Income Payments

The Rhode Island Victory Fund committee, which was responsible for the sale of over $400,000,000 worth of government securities in Rhode Island during the December campaign, will undertake to promote the sale of Tax Savings notes during the next few weeks. It was announced today in Providence by Godfrey S. Simonds, co-chairman of the committee.

Mr. Simonds pointed out that on March 15 over 150,000 persons in Rhode Island who have previously paid no income tax will begin to do so and that thousands of others will pay sharply increased taxes. "The great majority of new taxpayers," Mr. Simonds said, "have not planned ahead to meet these taxes. Unless they follow some plan of savings beginning at once, many of them are going to be very much embarrassed when March 15 rolls around."

The committee recommends the purchase of Treasury Tax Savings notes as a practical way to anticipate future tax payments. They are available in denominations from $25 dollars up, and when used for the payment of taxes, bear interest at the rate of 1.82% per year.

Mr. Simonds pointed out that tax notes intended for use on March 15 should be purchased before the end of January since they begin to be usable during the second calendar month after purchase.

WHITTLES WAY TO COLLEGE

Bank Employee Develops Carving Ability Into Hobby

LANCASTER, Kentucky, Jan. 21.—Whittling "comes natural" to most rural Kentuckians, but this county seat can boast of a young bank employee who gets more from his whittling than shavings.

Al Stewart, who expects to get his master's degree some day from the University of Kentucky, partly whittled his way through that institution with a 50-cent pocket knife and a few stray pieces of wood. Now he has developed his carving ability into an interesting hobby.

Five years ago Stewart "started whittling out things" with his knife during his spare time. He discovered there was a market for his product, and one year sold enough carvings to buy his meals while attending the University of Kentucky. He whittles for fun now, preferring to keep his carvings, of which he has a big collection.

BRITONS' WARTIME WORRIES

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Brides without rings and babies without carriages have been added to the wartime worries of the British.

So far, there are no bare-headed brides and babies haven't had to walk or use taxis but W. F. Higgs of Birmingham views the near future with concern and wants the board of trade to do something about it.

Higgs is an M. P. from Birmingham West and it is natural for him to be among the early warriors on this problem because the Birmingham region produces a large share of Britain's wedding bands and perambulators.

TRACTOR USE DOUBLED

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—It is estimated 120,000 tractors were used in British agriculture in 1942, more than doubling 1939's score of 50,000.

Lake Winnebago, with an extreme length of 30 miles and a width of 10 miles, is the largest of Wisconsin's thousands of lakes.

PEYROUTON MEETS PRESS

Gives Little Information on Alms in Algeria

Alfred Headquarters, North Africa, Jan. 21 (AP)—Marcel Peyrouton, new governor-general of Algeria, met American and British reporters in his first press conference Wednesday, and the reporters left with about as much knowledge of the alms and beliefs of General Henri Honoré Giraud's first political appointees as before the meeting began.

Peyrouton dismissed all questions with the reply that he could not answer as he had "just assumed office."

The former Vichy ambassador to Argentina admitted there "probably will be changes" in the Vichy-ridden Algerian administration.

Peyrouton expressed hope that "all Frenchmen will be united" in a more than cautious answer to a question about negotiations between General Charles De Gaulle and General Giraud for unity, and fended off a question about resented anti-Jewish decrees, saying the latter was a question for the High Commissioner (Giraud), since his only duty was to administer the decrees.

A self-igniting mixture of quicklime and oil—a forerunner of the modern flame thrower—was used by ancient Greek warriors.

R. I. RAM STARS BARRED

Appleby, French Out of P. O.
Gang Because of Pro Play

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 21 (AP)— Co-Captain Bob Appleby and Howard French, two of the outstanding members of the Rhode Island State College basketball team, have been barred from further representing college in athletics for playing professional basketball. Frank Keane, coach and athletic director, said this morning.

Keane said Appleby and French were paid for a pro team in Portland, Me., Wednesday night.
He said he had "got wind" of their intentions and had warned them they'd be barred if they followed their plan.

Keane said he received definite word from Maine that they

YOUR INCOME TAX

Earned Income—Deductible Expense

In arriving at the amount of earned income shown on Item 1 of the return Form 1040, ordinary and necessary expenses incurred in this connection may be deducted. A distinction must be made attributable to one's employment and personal expense, which may not be deductible.

Expenses of travel in connection with one's employment, or business, are deductible. Such expense ordinarily includes transportation, meals, and lodging. But it does not include the cost of laundry, clothes pressing, and other expenses of a nature such as would be incurred in any case.

The amount of any reimbursement of expense, or of an expense allowance, must be included in the return as part of compensation.
Expenses of a salesman in entertainment customers for the purpose of securing business, including taxicabs, theatre tickets and dinner, telephone and telegraph messages, and the like, are deductible, but such expenses incurred by an officer or employee of a corporation whose contract of employment does not specifically require him to make such expenditures.

Expense of getting to and from work, such as commuters' fares and bus and street car fares, are considered as personal expenses, and are not deductible.
The amounts spent in seeking a job, as well as the cost of traveling to the place where a new job is to be taken up, are personal expenses and are not deductible.

Membership fees in a labor union, or in an organization which renders a protective service to its members, are allowable deductions.

Cost of uniforms and equipment are deductible expenses to the extent that such are specifically required, and that they do not take the place of ordinary clothing in civil life. Cost of military and naval uniforms and related equipment, such as gait hose and gait buttons, is not deductible, but the cost of certain items, such as cor-puses, campaign hats, and the like, which are especially required by the profession, is deductible.

The uniforms of baseball players and other professional athletes are not considered clothing adapted to general wear, and the cost of such is deductible. The same also applies to the cost of helmets, rubber coats, and rubber boots required to be purchased and worn by city firemen and policemen.

SALTONSTALL, BUSHNELL

CLASH

BOSTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—A verbal clash between Governor Lovett Saltonstall and Robert T. Bushnell, attorney general, both Republicans, over the governor's appointment of a new chief justice of the Boston municipal court, stirred Massachusetts political circles today.

Bushnell, now waging an anti-gambling drive, declared Wednesday that the appointment should have gone to Judge Robert T. Zotoll, senior associate justice of the court, on the basis of his record against members of criminal syn-dicates.

Saltonstall retorted that the public and private record of his appointee, Municipal Judge Davis
B. Keniston, was above reproach, and added:

"The responsibility for appointments is mine and I intend to live up to that responsibility to the best of my ability."

SERVICE "Y" OFFICIALS
ARE RE-ELECTEDAdmiral Yarnell Commends
Staff, WorkersSecretary Reports Total Attendance of 987,957 at Events
Held in Last Year

The Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. committee of management unanimously re-elected the officers and added five new members to the committee at its annual meeting Wednesday afternoon. Reports indicated increased attendance at all activities, including those at the Robinson House.

Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, U. S. N. (retired), a member of the committee commended the staff and officers calling the year's attendance of 987,957 "astounding." He also spoke of Washington, D. C., in war time.

Impressions of the work for enlisted men were given by H. C. Eickus, boatswain's mate, first class.

James W. Thompson was re-elected chairman of the committee of management. Others named were Robert C. Bacheller, honorary chairman; Dr. Norman M. MacLeod, vice chairman; John H. Hodgson, treasurer; and W. Norman Sayer, recording secretary. The names were presented by Charles A. Hambley, chairman of the nominating committee.

Again named to the committee were Richard C. Adams, J. Henry Crenin, Charles M. Crocker, Walter Gurney Dyer, J. Russell Haire, Charles A. Hambley, Captain Rufus Z. Johnston, U. S. N. (retired), Colonel Frank P. King, Lieutenant Colonel Harold T. Lowe, U. S. A., J. C. Earle McLennan, Arthur A. Manuel, Jr., Captain Chas. Shackford, (retired), Captain Bart D. Stephens (Ch. C.), U. S. N., John A. Weiser, William F. Whitehouse, Henry C. Wilkinson, and Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, U. S. N. (retired).

The new members are Mrs. Graham Adee, Mrs. Sheldon Whitehouse, Wardell C. Leonard, the Rev. Dr. Lauriat L. Scaife and Captain C. O. Wiley (Ch. C.), U. S. A.

John W. Rupp, executive secretary, reported that the attendance at the "Y" building was 875,811 and at the Robinson House 112,615. Dances Tuesday and Saturday evenings were attended by 41,688. The game room registered 250 a day; $1,011 attended 312 movie shows at the "Y." Various outings and socials sponsored by the Junior Y-Anna, Navy Mothers Club, Navy Wives Club and Mosaic Club had an attendance of 158,829. Sunday evening Forums averaged 120 attending.

Personal services to the men in military services included cashing checks to the amount of $250,000; 63,456 provided sleeping accommodations; 116,000 utilizing facilities of the check room; some 3,500 packages wrapped and mailed during the holidays; 133,400 provided with writing materials and a seven-team softball and 10 team basketball schedule with 155 players and 16,323 attending, directed by the physical department.

Work of the USO Traveler's Aid, directed by Miss Marcia Daney, at the "Y," was reported as having expanded far beyond expectations. The Women's groups, including the Army Mothers' Club, the Women's Auxiliary, the Y-Anna, the Y-Anna Junior Clubs, Navy Mothers and Navy Wives were each commended by Mr. Rupp in the report.

Report of Robinson House, prepared by Mrs. Martha Caperton, director, listed a wide variety of activities, including 11 formal dances, three weddings, 101 afternoon teas, numerous wienie roasts and outdoor game sessions. Figures listed 238 informal week day activities in addition to the Saturday and Sunday routine programs and special holiday events.

Among special activities were dance classes, handicraft and cooking classes, fingerpainting and sketching instruction, classes in Spanish and a number of quiz bees.

Arthur A. Manuel, Jr., chairman of house hospitality, reported that with the assistance of Eugene O'Reilly, 78 service men were entertained at the latter's home on Washington street in the last two months.

Mrs. B. K. Hart Speaks at Meeting of Professional Club;
Group to Aid USO

Mrs. B. K. Hart of Providence, a member of the faculty of Brown University, reviewed current books at a dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday evening at the Hotel Viking. Mrs. Hart spoke particularly of war books.

The books were in four groups, stories of the war, stories of the background of the war, fiction and exploits of youth. She was presented by Mrs. Esther Hiss, chairman of the program committee.

Ensign Waldron of the WAVES was introduced and spoke briefly. Miss Nancy Berry and Miss Louise Carroll were welcomed as new members of the club. They were presented by Miss Albina Sylvia, membership chairman. Past presidents at the head table included Mrs. Elsie Shanahan, Miss Katherine Lee, Miss Signe Falkenhelm and Mrs. Bella O'Hanley.

Miss Margaret V. Hughes, president, conducted the business meeting. Miss Edith Scatrom will be the hostess at the USO club Friday night. Miss Hughes urged a group of volunteers to attend as assistant hostesses. Miss Lee made surgical dressings at the Red Cross house on Pelham street Friday evenings.

OFFICER PROMOTED

Ray Mills, who leaped from master sergeant to first lieutenant in the Finance Department of the army, has been promoted to captain in the Harbor Defenses of Narragansett Bay.

Captain Mills had considerable experience in finance as an enlisted man at Fort Des Moines, Ia., and was discharged as a master sergeant June 29, 1942, so that he might accept a commission of first lieutenant. He was ordered to Watertown, Mass., Arsenal, where he was deputy to the finance officer.

Captain Mills came to Fort Adams early this month and was promoted shortly after his arrival here. He has been in the army 11 years.

RECEIVES CERTIFICATE

Cited for Part in Campaign to Collect Furs

Army Calls For 126,000 Surgical Dressings; Home Nursing Class to Start

Newport Chapter, Red Cross, has received a certificate of cooperation from the War Emergency board for its assistance in collecting furs to be made into vests for the merchant marine services of the United States and the United Nations.

Mrs. J. Russell Haire, chairman, and a committee have collected over 500 pounds of furs since October it was said. Many of the pieces were sable and seal, some of them family heirlooms. The collection is still going on and the Red Cross will be glad to receive any fur pieces that can be used for making vests.

The army has sent out a call for 126,000 surgical dressings to be delivered by the Red Cross by the end of March. This is one of the largest single orders ever received to be filled in so short a time. Mrs. William A. Peckham will be in charge of dressings.

Graduation exercises for the third home nursing class will be held Friday night at 8 o'clock at the Newport Hospital. It was announced by Mrs. Bradford Leys, chairman of home nursing, who is in charge of arrangements. Dr. Norman M. McLeod will be the speaker. The certificates will be presented by Judge Mortimer A. Sullivan, chairman of the chapter. Mrs. Leys will present a pin to each of the graduates.

A new home nursing class will start at 7:30 P. M. February 9, with Mrs. Alfred Tagliano as chairman, and a new class in canteen duties starts Tuesday morning. Volunteers are to register at the chapter house on Pelham street.

The monthly meeting of the Junior Red Cross was held Wednesday afternoon with Miss Rita Holleges, president, presiding. Reports were read by representatives of each school on the work done for service men over the weekend.

Plans were made for the making of valentine favors for the hospitals, and the work to be done at Easter.

Mrs. John E. Petersen, chairman of the Junior Red Cross, read a letter from Edward A. Richards, director of the Junior Red Cross of the Atlantic area, explaining the ways in which the Junior Red Cross could be most useful during the War Fund campaign that starts in March.
